

Fourteen Ballots Without a Choice

Speaker Clark Still in the Lead--Two Votes Cast for Gov. Foss on 13th Ballot

BRYAN CREATES AN UPROAR--WILL NOT VOTE FOR CLARK WHILE NEW YORK IS WITH HIM

BALTIMORE, June 29.—The democratic national convention was again in session today trying to break the deadlock on the nomination of a presidential candidate. Immediately after convening the 13th ballot was taken. It seemed to be generally accepted that a choice, under the two-thirds rule, was a long way off.

It was reported that Chairman James during the day might from the platform advocate the abrogation of this rule. Senator Lea, floor leader of the progressives, asserted that a nomination would mean nothing unless made by two-thirds of the delegates as it would require a two-thirds vote to suspend the rules to permit a majority nomination and Chairman James when asked about the report said he had talked along the line indicated but that he felt sure a nomination would be given to Clark in view of the majority vote received by him. He said that if Wilson or any other man should at some time receive a majority and fail to change the rules and that the convention had the power to do so.

Chairman James called the convention to order at 1:05. The chaplain, the Rev. Dr. Rosch Stratton of Baltimore then said the prayer.

The hall was in confusion but order was finally secured at 1:15 and for the 13th time the clerk began the calling of the roll.

Gossip about the floor was that the popular prejudice against the 13th roll call would prevent any material changes in the vote on that ballot. It was also said that the "unlucky Friday" superstition last night prevented shifts that might have made a nomination possible.

The roll call began with the same monotonous repetition that marked last night's voting. When Connecticut was reached Wilson lost one vote to Underwood. The rumor of the shift in the vote of the Nebraska delegation did not materialize on this ballot, the record remaining Clark 13, Wilson 3. There had been some question as to whether New York would cast its 90 votes for Clark but Charles F. Murphy made his usual announcement of 90 for Clark again and it was apparent that there would be no nomination.

North Carolina gave Wilson one from the Underwood column. Wilson also took from Clark in Ohio. In Tennessee Clark gained six votes, Wilson gained 7½; the 7½ were lost by Underwood. In Alaska Clark gained one from Wilson. Hawaii gave Clark a gain of one from Wilson.

Porto Rico voted six rolls for Wilson, a loss of two votes for Clark. The result of the 13th ballot was: Clark, 554; Wilson, 356½; Underwood, 117½; Harmon, 25; Marshall, 30; Foss, 2; Bryan, 1.

This showed a gain of five for Clark. Wilson gained 2½ and Underwood lost 7½. Foss was put on the roll with two votes.

Kern received no votes and Bryan was given one.

Before the result of the 13th ballot was announced W. J. Bryan appeared on the platform. He talked to Chairman James for a moment and then resumed his seat in the Nebraska section.

A clapper swept the hall from the time he left his seat until he returned to it. At 1:40 the roll call was begun for the 14th time.

During the 14th ballot, Chairman James surrendered the gavel to William Sulzer of New York and went to the floor. He conferred with Senator Stone of the Clark forces and then hurried about visiting the various delegations.

Convention in Uproar
Mr. Bryan entered the hall shortly after the reading of the roll call and in an impassioned speech declared that he would not vote for Clark while the New York delegation supported that candidate.

The convention was in an uproar. Senator Stone shouted above the din, pleading to the delegates and galleries to listen to Bryan.

Bryan remained mounted on his chair. Senator Stone made his way to the platform to ask for time for Mr. Bryan to explain his vote. Above the din a motion granting unanimous consent to Bryan to speak was declared, and the commoner proceeded to the platform while cheers and shouts of derision mingled.

Great confusion arose as Bryan motioned for quietness.

He spoke deliberately, explaining in detail his vote amid an impressive silence.

Bryan read from a prepared statement. He said that Nebraska had always been a progressive state.

"In this convention," he said, "the progressive sentiment was overwhelming and no candidate would have a chance if known to be a progressive. The resolution adopted against any candidate subservient to Morgan, Ryan and Belmont showed the desires of the convention, Mr. Bryan said.

The vote of New York represented the wishes of one man, Charles F. Murphy, declared Bryan and he represented the same interests that sought to dominate the Chicago convention. He and his associates of the Nebraska delegation, he said, were unwilling to accept the name of any man who was receiving the benefit of Mr. Murphy's leadership.

Shouts of approval constantly interrupted Bryan with occasional parliamentary protests but he pushed on. "I shall not be party," declared Bryan, "to the nomination of any man who will not be absolutely free to carry out the anti-Morgan-Ryan-Belmont resolution and make his administration reflect government of, for and by the people. I shall withhold my vote from Mr. Clark as long as New York votes for him."

WM. J. BRYAN

SAYS HE IS ATTENDING TO HIS OWN BUSINESS

BALTIMORE, June 29.—The uncertain situation over the naming of the presidential ticket has given rise today to much speculation among the leaders as to what movement will be made, if any, by William J. Bryan to break the deadlock, but in an interview just before noon of the Nebraska plan Mr. Bryan disclosed nothing.

"Everybody says that you are going to make a break this morning; if so, will you tell us what it is?" he was asked.

"I have not thought it wise to issue bulletins," replied Mr. Bryan. "I find it better to make announcements."

"Well, can you say that you will make an announcement?"

"Whenever there is anything to be done I will make an announcement at the time when it is to be done," he replied.

"Have you anything to say in regard to Mr. Murphy?"

"Nothing."

"How about the platform? It is reported you said the platform is very satisfactory to you."

"Very satisfactory," replied the Nebraskaan.

"Do you think it will go through without any opposition?"

"There was no objection from any member of the resolutions committee and you would hardly anticipate any on the floor, as every state was represented in the committee."

"You speak of purging the national committee. When would that be done?"

"I am not prepared to make any statement as to the proper time," said Mr. Bryan.

"Do you think nominations will be made today?"

"I will not prophesy. I am a little like Senator Allison was—at least this is the story as I read it. He was speaking in behalf of an appropriation to remove the snow from the streets of Washington. He said: 'You know we recently had a heavy snow.' Another senator said: 'And we are likely to have another, and with trembling voice said: "I will not predict." Like Senator Allison, I will not predict."

"What is your program for the day? Will you go from here to the convention hall and go on the floor?"

"I will not decide that question immediately," was Mr. Bryan's reply. "I do not expect to be on the floor except when I think it necessary, but I shall be in the resolutions committee room when I am not on the floor. In other words I am attending strictly to business."

"Will you give us your own private views in regard to the third term proposition?"

"I can only say that beginning about 15 years ago when I tried to secure an amendment to the constitution I have been an advocate of a single term and in the three campaigns I announced that I would not, if elected, be a candidate for re-election. I might as well state my position on that because you can prove it on me."

"And you have always been willing to accept one term?"

"I would not want to put it that way. There are times when I would."

"And are you still willing?"

"We have not reached a point where that question is a pertinent one and I have not known a newspaperman who would be presumptuous enough to ask it."

THE PLATFORM

WILL TAKE BUT LITTLE OF CONVENTION'S TIME

BALTIMORE, June 29.—Twelve ballots for president had been taken without a choice when the democratic national convention decided to reassemble at one o'clock this afternoon after the early morning adjournment.

The result of the 13th ballot follows:

Clark, 549; Wilson, 354; Underwood, 117½; Harmon, 25; Marshall, 30; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1; Total, 1085.

Unless the conferences which preceded the afternoon session should prove to have been more productive of results than those which had gone before, the existing deadlock may be indefinitely prolonged, causing the convention to remain in session over another week. But the delegates are nearly worn out and anxious to go home. In this fact lays the hope that the predicted break might occur early enough today to permit a nomination for president to be made with sufficient time left to name a vice president and adopt the platform before midnight.

Never in the history of the democratic party has a candidate for president under the two-thirds rule who has received a majority of votes, in the convention been denied the nomination.

Clark received a majority on the tenth ballot last night when New York's solid 90 was thrown his way. Should he fall now to get the nomination precedent will have been upset.

It was expected before the reconvening of the body that a crisis would be reached on the next two or three ballots. Leaders who profess to know have stated that the speaker could not hold the New York vote much longer unless he should make substantial gains. Instead of going ahead, Mr. Clark has been slipping back inch by inch since the tenth ballot.

Underwood was the next candidate. It was reported, who would be given a chance at the New York vote once Clark was abandoned. Wilson's friends maintained that eventually the tide of votes would turn in his favor and that the party would rally around the New Jersey governor as its standard bearer.

The Wilson forces have held well together during all the balloting.

There still existed a chance that a "dark horse" might break the deadlock. It appeared certain that any agreement between the Clark and Wilson managers was out of the question, but it was doubtful whether these men could hold all their delegates, once a break occurred.

Like thought has been given to the vice presidency and the leaders felt that they could dispose of that question in a very short time.

The platform was expected to consume a very little of the convention's time.

THE LEADERS WERE LATE IN MAKING THEIR APPEARANCE TODAY

BALTIMORE, June 29.—Wearied with their second struggle lasting practically all night, the leaders and main body of delegates were late in making their reappearance at the main centers of activity this morning and it was well toward noon before the work of consultation, conference and caucus was in full swing. The early birds, which included Chairman James were again sanguine that a decisive ballot would be reached today and that the convention would conclude its labors tonight. Already the exodus from Baltimore had begun and placards at every hand announced special trains carrying away large parties which had come to see a candidate chosen.

It was generally felt that if Clark wins he must win quickly. A continued deadlock was the one thing which might eat away the commanding lead he had already established. The problem before the Clark forces was twofold, first to hold their present strength intact against defections, and second, to add 75½ votes to his 549 shown on the 12th ballot to give him the necessary two-thirds majority. The first problem was not a menacing one but it had its difficulties.

The 99 New York votes with Clark from the 10th to the 12th ballot were not regarded as a dependent quantity. If the struggle was prolonged, as the New Yorkers were still feeling their

PETER A. MCKENZIE

PASSED AWAY TODAY

He Was Formerly Purchasing Agent

It was with deep sorrow that the many friends of Peter A. MacKenzie, former purchasing agent for the city of Lowell learned of his death, which occurred today at his late home, 19 Bertha avenue, after a lingering illness.

Deceased was 46 years of age and widely known in this city where for years he was in the carriage building business with a shop in Broadway. His demise will be a sad blow to all who knew him, for he was held in high esteem by his legion of friends, who will keenly feel his departure.

Mr. MacKenzie was an efficient business man and he proved it when he served at city hall as head of the supply department, he being elected to that office for three consecutive terms, 1903-'05-'10. He was also very prominent in social and fraternal circles, being a member of the following orders and clubs: Highland Varsity lodge, I. O. O. F., Integrity lodge, M. U. O. F., Knights of Pythias, uniformed rank; Red Men, Eagles, Rebekahs, Butler Vets, Highland, Washington and Bunting clubs.

Deceased is survived by a wife, Katie, a son, Raymond, a daughter, Helena, a brother, D. A. MacKenzie, a sister, Mrs. Jesse Taylor, and a brother in Canada, M. J. MacKenzie; two nieces, Edith McKinley and May Shannon.

Madam—

The weather man has promised a very warm day for tomorrow.

In fairness to yourself we are going to ask that you take your husband into your kitchen and ask him to remain there while you prepare dinner.

After he has cooled off and eaten the dinner, ask him what he thinks about buying a GAS RANGE—one that heats the food, not the room.

He will no doubt insist upon you buying a gas range at once, and if you will bring him to our store the next day, we will show you how easy it is to secure a gas range, and furthermore after the range is installed, we will send one of our expert demonstrators to show you how to use it economically.

If it is not convenient to call, telephone 349, and our representative will call upon you any day or evening you will say.

NEW YORK, June 27.—There was one man on the Adriatic when she left at noon Thursday who was in a hurry to get away from New York, and it was not because of his name either. It was W. H. Speedy, and he came from New Zealand.

Mr. Speedy got free on Monday, intending to look us over before he left, and then sail for the old home in England. But the prevailing fashion of welcoming the stranger practiced by members of an entertainment committee was meted out to the Adriatic. So when he sailed he was not just a New Zealander, but a New Yorker.

And Mr. Speedy got off cheaply. Had he not carried some of his troubles to a hotel clerk he would have stood a chance of losing $15,000 more. "I would like to get your assistance in collecting some money," said the New Zealander. It was a story of $25,000. It was a story of a New Zealander, but it was a story of a New Yorker.

Then he told him he had met a friend, "a fellow named" who also met a friend, who had "advanced information" on the races. They went together to a pool room and Mr. Speedy happened to bet $15,000, giving a check. Then he was told that his horse had won. He continued:

"The cashier told the books were closed and the sum was so large that he would have to have time to make some investigation. I bet $25,000. I had in my pocket. Now the $25,000 that is due has not come, and I should like to collect it as soon as possible."

With the cashier's aid, Mr. Speedy finally succeeded in getting the check returned.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM IS A NEW DOCUMENT

It is Bristling With Progressivism
—Utmost Harmony at Meetings of the Committee

BALTIMORE, June 27.—Bristling with democratic progressivism, the platform on which the democratic party will stand during the approaching campaign was completed late yesterday and awaits only the approval of the presidential nominee to be presented to the convention.

The document is the result of 48 hours' deliberation on the part of the committee. It is an almost entirely new document, though the recommendations of the New York delegation were followed in many particulars.

From first to last the committee's deliberations were characterized by the utmost harmony. The machinists demanded less for the most pronounced declarations in favor of progressive policies all along the line and the only difference of opinion arose over the best method of expressing this tendency. The result is a platform of generally advanced views, although many of them are less radical than the party declarations of other years.

Comprehensive, Progressive
The document covers every subject of importance which has been the subject of party discussion during the last four years. None of them is elaborately presented, but the large number of subjects renders it somewhat voluminous.

The members of the committee express general satisfaction with the outcome of their vote, and Mr. Bryan, who took a most active part in framing the paper, made the prediction that it would arouse the disapproval of not more than a dozen members of the convention.

Under the new rule adopted the platform will not be presented to the convention until after the nomination of the candidates. Its submission will follow the election of a vice-presidential candidate.

Platform Plan
The platform reaffirms the party's devotion to the principles of democratic government as formulated by Jefferson.

It declares for a tariff for revenue only and denounces "the high republican tariff as the principal cause of the unequal distribution of wealth."

Favors immediate downward revision of present duties, especially upon necessities of life. Also favors gradual reduction so as not to interfere with or destroy legitimate industries.

Denounces President Taft for vetoing tariff bills of last congress. Condemns republican party "for failure to redeem its promise of 1908 for downward revision."

Takes issue with the republican platform as to the high cost of living, contending it is largely due to high tariff laws.

For Criminal Trust Prosecution
Favors vigorous enforcement of the criminal features of anti-trust law. Demands such additional legislation as may be necessary to crush private monopoly. Favors prohibition of holding companies, interlocking directors, stock watering, etc. Condemns republican administration for "compromising with Standard Oil company and Tobacco Trust."

Denounces Republican Administration
On charge of extravagance and demands return to simplicity and economy befitting a democratic government.

Favors efficient supervision and rate regulation of railroads, express companies, telegraph and telephone lines and a valuation of these companies by the interstate commerce commission and also legislation against over-issuance of stocks of these corporations.

In connection with a demand for such a revision of the banking laws as will give temporary relief in case of financial distress, there is a denunciation of the Aldrich bill prepared by the monetary commission. The present method of depositing government funds is condemned and the party is pledged to the enactment of a law for the deposit of such funds by competitive bidding in state or national banks without discrimination as to locality.

Favors Rural Credits
Recommends investigation of agricultural credit societies in Europe to ascertain whether a system of rural credits may be devised suitable to conditions in the United States.

Pledges party to enactment of legislation to prevent devastation of lower Mississippi valley by floods and control of the Mississippi is declared to be a national rather than a state problem. The maintenance of a navigable channel is also recommended.

Favors national aid regarding past roads. Repeats the party's declaration of the platform of 1908 as to the rights of labor and pledges the party to an employer's compensation law.

Declares the unnecessary withdrawal of public land tends to retard development and bring reproach upon policy of conservation; that reservations should be limited to purposes which they purport to serve; favors broadest liberty in administering land laws and says forest reserve act permitting homestead entries within the national forest should not be nullified by administrative regulations; declares for immediate action to make available Alaskan coal lands and safeguarding of lives of miners.

Public Health, Pure Food
Favors encouragement of agriculture and legislation to suppress gambling in agricultural products.

Believes in fostering growth of a merchant marine and urges speedy enactment of laws for greater security of life and property at sea.

Reaffirms previous declarations regarding pure food and public health. Favors reorganization of the Civil service and says laws should be honestly and rigidly enforced.

Recommends law reform legislation. Reaffirms position against "policy of imperialism and colonial exploitation" in Philippines.

Welcomes Arizona and New Mexico to sisterhood of states. Demands for Alaska full enjoyment of rights and privileges of territorial form of government.

Refers to Russian treaty and renews pledge to preserve "sacred rights of American citizenship at home and abroad."

People Must Rule
Favors parcels post and extension of rural delivery.

Favors encouragement such as can be properly given Panama canal expedition. Commends to the states adoption of law making it an offense to discriminate against the uniform of the United States.

Renews declaration of last platform regarding generous pension policy. Refers to the rule of the people, and says: "The democratic party offers itself to the country as an agency through which the complete overthrow and extinction of corruption, fraud and machine rule in American politics can be effected."

The conclusion of the platform says: "Our platform is one of principles which we believe to be essential to our national welfare, and invites co-operation of all citizens who believe in maintaining unimpaired the institutions and traditions of our country."

MEN WERE BURIED ALIVE
Several of Them Were Badly Injured

BOSTON, June 28.—Six tons of boulders and earth tumbled and buried two workmen in the cellar of the new Comique theatre at Federal and Washington streets, Salem, yesterday afternoon. Scores of other workers hurriedly rescued them. They were only bruised.

Thomas J. Fremont of 17 Laumont street and Albert J. Douglas of 12 Mill street, Salem, were working in the cellar in a busy squad. Above them was a 15-foot wall of earth, topped with large stones, formerly in the foundations of buildings which were razed to make room for the new building.

Without warning the wall gave in. The two men disappeared. A shovel squad became busy and soon the heads of the imprisoned men were freed to the air. Douglas was dug wholly out in a few minutes.

But it was a hard task to get Fremont out. A two-ton foundation stone was over him, apparently upon his chest. The dirt was dug out carefully, and it became apparent that the stone was suspended by two splinter ones, so that it was a fraction of an inch from crushing the man.

A tackle had to be rigged, timber jolts shoved into place as props and steel cables had to be taken before the rescue. The dirt was dug out carefully, and it became apparent that the stone was suspended by two splinter ones, so that it was a fraction of an inch from crushing the man.

SHOT HIMSELF

MANCHESTER MAN LEARNED THAT WIFE HAD LEFT HIM

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 25.—Arthur Fisher, aged 30, an employee of J. Porter of Manchester, Center, on arriving home last night found a letter from his wife saying that she had decided to leave him, and take her daughter with her.

Fisher at once loaded a revolver and shot himself through the temple, death being instantaneous. The young man came to Manchester, Center, N. H., several years ago, and aside from his family is not known to have any survivors. He has a divorced wife and two children. The daughter who went away with his second wife was not his.

WORK OF INDIANS OF THE WEST

An Interesting Talk Was
Given by Rev. A. P.

REV. A. P. WEDGE

At the Fifth Street Baptist church last night Rev. Arthur P. Wedge, former pastor of the Worthen Street Baptist church, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the Indians of the west and the work being accomplished by them. He said that the grotesquely garbed, wild product of the west, is fast disappearing, but in his place is coming the Indian of the present, who gives every promise of becoming an honored citizen of the country, and one whom this country will justly feel proud of in the future. Mr. Wedge is at present engaged as special religious and moral instructor for United States Indians.

There are about 300,000 Indians in the United States at the present time, and instead of decreasing in numbers as many have claimed, they are increasing. The past generation has seen an increase of some 26,000 in the Indian population of the country.

The Carlisle school for Indians, and other institutions of learning, which are wholly devoted to the general uplift of the Indian, were shown, together with the results attained after a few years of training. Lone Star, Louis Tewanima and other famous Indian athletes were shown in the series of views.

POLICE COURT SESSION

Number of Cases on the Docket

This morning's session of the police court was rather brief despite the fact that there were a number of cases on the docket.

Nicholas Tampiaras who appeared before the court yesterday morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of a sewing machine and a pair of shoes and sentenced to five months

In fall, appeared before Judge Pickman this morning and withdrew his appeal.

Nicholas Carras charged with assault and battery on Albert Pappas was fined $7. From the testimony brought out Carras and Pappas got into a battle while at work in the Tremont St. Suffolk mills and the former gave Pappas a good punishment.

William Broadbent charged with drunkenness was given a suspended sentence of five months in jail and placed on probation for six months.

Germian Pinault charged with being drunk was given a suspended sentence of six months in jail.

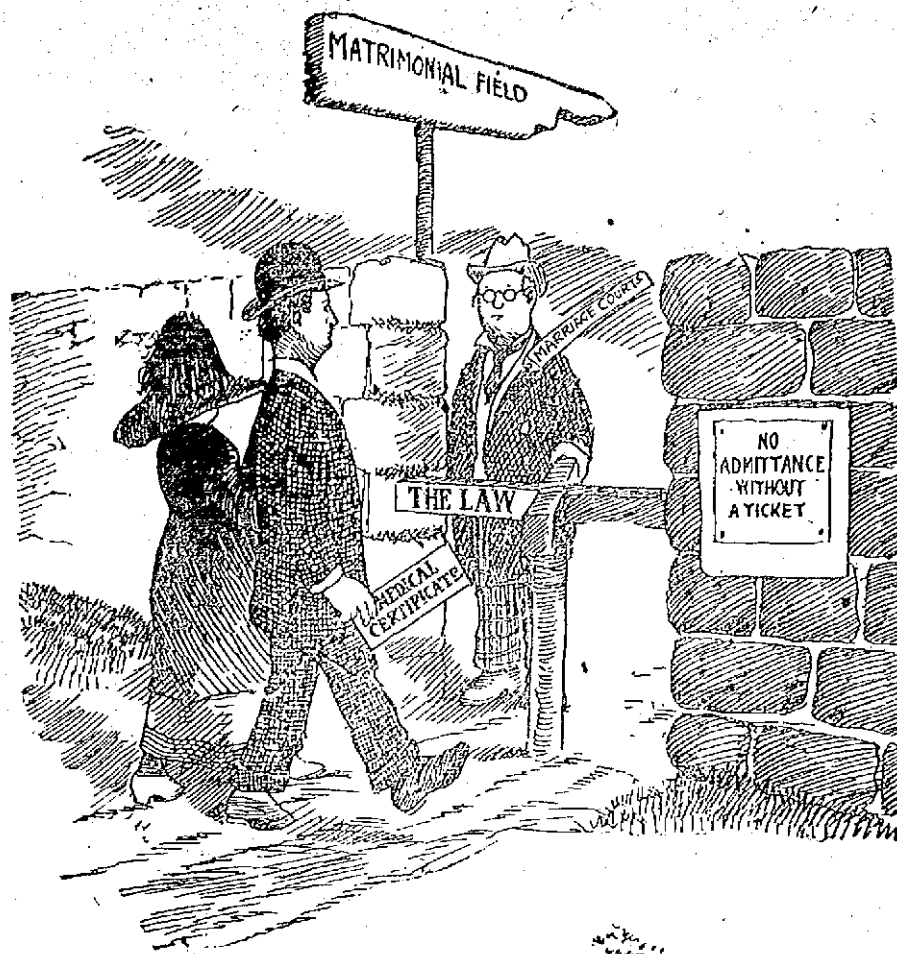

Michael Slattery entered a plea of guilty to a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Joseph Lachance but the case was placed on file on the payment of the costs of the court.

Terrence B. Guthrie was charged with being drunk but he entered a plea of not guilty. After the officers had testified the court found the man guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $6.

In the case of Peter J. Shanley, charged with non-support of his wife, the court ordered him to pay $1.50 a week.

Frank McCluskey and Michael J. Hogan, charged with drunkenness, were each ordered to pay a fine of $6.

THE NEW WAY

TRAIN STRUCK WAGON MEN AND HORSE ESCAPED

Men Jumped to Safety, Horse Dashed and the Wagon Was Smashed

Despite the desperate efforts of John S. Cochrane, flagman at the Merrimack street crossing, to avoid a team being struck by a train about 9 o'clock this morning, his warnings were ignored, according to witnesses to the accident, and the train backed into the team, in which there were two men, and though the wagon was badly damaged the men jumped to safety and the horse was not injured.

According to Flagman Cochrane, he saw the train of about seven cars backing down towards his crossing, and as is his custom he started to flag the crossing when the first car reached the Market street crossing. He also saw the team coming down Dutton street and when it reached the corner near his shanty he signalled to the driver to stop. The latter kept on going and Mr. Cochrane said that he yelled loudly and that several people who were in the vicinity also shouted at the driver. The horse continued and just as the animal reached the crossing the train got there. The car struck the horse and wagon, breaking the shafts, and the animal got across, but though Edward O'Brien, conductor on the train, gave the emergency stop motion the wagon was pushed to the other side of the street before the train was brought to a stop. The two men saved themselves by jumping.

The horse is a valuable animal and is said to be the property of the Wheelock estate. The wagon was loaded with long pipes and other iron material and some of the pipes were badly bent and the wagon itself was smashed up considerably. Mr. Cochrane said that the men in the wagon were looking at the new Y. M. C. A. building and did not see or hear him, and several others, including a driver for F. D. Munn, who was close by when the accident happened, were of the same opinion.

John S. Cochrane, the flagman at the scene of the accident, has been at that place for 37 years, and while he has witnessed many close calls, he says that this morning's accident was a mystery to him. He said: "Of all the narrow escapes that I have seen during my connection with the railroad that was the closest. Of course I am glad that nothing serious happened and am in a quandary to know why people who are warned of danger will step right into it."

AVIATION MEET

WAS OPENED TODAY WITH MANY CONTESTANTS

BOSTON, June 29.—The third annual Boston aviation meet opened today at Squantum with a program of aerial contests and competitions participated in by some 15 aviators. Included in the number are two women fliers, Miss Harriet Quimby and Miss Blanche Stuart Scott. The meet will continue through July 7.

Among the contestants were Lincoln Beachey, Glenn L. Martin, Frank T. Rell, Farman T. Fish, Paul Peck, Chas. T. Niles, D. C. Patmore, Frank T. Coffey, Arch Freeman, Philip Page, Chas. Hamilton and Geo. W. Reatty, with C. C. Bonnette, the balloonist and parachute jumper.

DOUBLE WEDDING

AT ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH MONDAY MORNING

A pretty ceremony will be performed Monday morning, when a double wedding will take place at St. Joseph's church. The contracting couples are Mr. Andre Santier and Miss Olivia Blanchard, and Mr. Arthur Payeur of Biddeford, Me., where a reception will be held, and a reception for their friends at 17 Dodge street, this city.

SURPRISE PARTY

A very pretty surprise party was last night tendered Mr. P. L. Denault at his home, 41 Jewett street, the occasion being the 50th anniversary of his birth. The event was largely attended by friends and relatives of Mr. Denault, who congratulated him and showered him with gifts, among them being a beautiful meerschaum pipe, a pair of handsome slippers and a large bouquet of flowers.

The presentation speech was delivered by Miss Antoinette Lamoine, his niece, who in behalf of the gathering congratulated him over his anniversary and extended him the best of wishes. An elaborate and varied musical and literary program was in order and a delectable luncheon was served. The party broke up at a late hour, wishing the host of the evening many returns of the day.

FIRE IN WAKEFIELD CAUSED HEAVY LOSS

Several Organizations Lost Property

WAKEFIELD, June 29.—Several organizations suffered loss in a fire early today that damaged Odd Fellows hall in the heart of the business section. The damage will reach $12,000. Regalia and other property of the Odd Fellows, Knights of Malta, Knights of Pythias and the Masons were damaged by smoke and water.

The ground floor of the building, a three story wooden structure, is occupied by business firms and their stores suffered water damage.

$3000 DAMAGE

CAUSED BY A FIRE IN MANCHESTER, ME.

MANCHESTER, Me., June 29.—An after-dinner smoke resulted in the burning of a fine set of farm buildings here yesterday owned by Philip Kearns of New York. They were to have been occupied in a few days as a summer residence.

Dr. Charles L. Wakefield of Augusta, who formerly owned the place, was at work there and after eating his dinner had his usual smoke. He placed his pipe in his coat and hung it in the barn and a few minutes later resumed work in the field. He saw smoke issuing from the barn. It was blazing fiercely inside and Dr. Wakefield thinks the pipe was the cause. Neighbors removed the furniture. The buildings were valued at $3000.

NO CLEW YET

TO SLAYER OF WOMAN AT WOONSOCKET

WOONSOCKET, R. I., June 29.—The lack of any clew for the police to follow in the mystery surrounding the murder of the woman, whose headless body was found in the Blackstone river on Tuesday, brought the investigation of the case practically to a standstill today. All the potential clews which have thus far been run down have been eliminated.

Arrangements were made today to draw the Manville pond tonight and tomorrow and thus lay bare a large part of the river from Woonsocket to Manville.

OUTINGS ENJOYED BY LOWELL PEOPLE

Two Parties Went to Revere Beach

Several outings and picnics were held by Lowell societies and clubs today, and during the entire day Merrimack square was crowded with people, coming to and leaving the city.

At 7:15 o'clock this morning a jambo car filled with the members of the Exeter club, a popular organization of young ladies, and several friends left Merrimack square for Revere beach, where they are spending the day and also a little coin, taking in the sights and attractions along the boulevard. Many of the party planned to take a dip in the surf and as the weather was ideal for a swim, needless to say many jumped in. They will return home late this evening.

First Trinitarian Church

The members of the First Trinitarian church are today enjoying an outing at Willow Dale and Lakeview. The members assembled in Merrimack square early this morning and boarded a special car at 8:30 o'clock for the parks. They were accompanied by Rev. George F. Kennebec, pastor of the church. Upon arrival at the lake a fine program was carried out, including sports and musical selections. At noon dinner was served, and in the afternoon dancing at the lake to the music of Miner's orchestra was enjoyed. Others indulged in boating and all had an enjoyable time. The return home will be made this evening.

Lawrence Hosiery Girls

A number of girls from the Lawrence hosiery left Merrimack square on a special car at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon for Revere beach, where they are spending the day and many of the party plan to remain at the beach until tomorrow evening. The others will return to the Spindle City tonight.

OF MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE

WASHINGTON, June 29.—W. H. Habens, a private soldier from Fort Meyer, who shot and killed a woman named Ada Huinen here last August, was found guilty of murder in the first degree last night. Sentence was suspended pending an appeal. Habens killed the woman and attempted suicide after the pair had quarreled.

PRES. OF HOWARD UNIVERSITY

BOSTON, June 29.—The Rev. Stephen Morrell Newman has been elected president of Howard university to succeed Dr. Wilbur T. Field, who left today for New Orleans to assume his duties as Methodist Episcopal bishop at New Orleans. Dr. Newman, who is a native of Palmouth, Me., was educated at Bowdoin college and began his career as a minister at Taunton, Mass. He was pastor of the First Congregational church in this city for 20 years and later was president of the Eastern college, Front Royal, Va., and then of Kenmar college for women at Ripon, Wis.

12 BALLOTS WITHOUT A CHOICE— CLARK LED ON EACH ONE— HARMON IS THIRD

BALTIMORE, June 29.—The convention hall was crowded when yesterday afternoon's session was called to order by Chairman James at 4:12.

Rev. Henry M. Wharton, pastor of Brantley Baptist church of Baltimore, offered prayer as follows:

"Oh, God, Our Father, we stand here a great company of people, our hearts turned to thee in gratitude and in supplication. Thou hast blessed us with a great country and guided us unto this hour. We have reached the time in the history of this convention when of all others thy wisdom is most needed.

"The affairs of our government seem about to pass to other hands and will it please thee that they may accept the tremendous responsibility and discharge the trust that shall be given unto their hands, with sincerity and with conscientious performance of duty.

"We pray thee that thou wilt guide the councils of this hour in the selection of a candidate for the presidency of our great country and that thou wilt give to us a man who fears God, who is guided by his word and whose heart turns in sympathy to the great multitude who daily toil for their living and for those dear to their hearts.

"Will thou give us a man who will guide our ship of state out from the waters of greed and selfishness into the high seas of prosperity? May the clouds which have darkened our skies pass away and the muzzling thunder of discontent be heard no more forever. And when our work is done, bring us home to thyself in heaven, we humbly ask in Jesus' name."

Prayer Applauded

The prediction of democratic success met with approval expressed in an outburst of applause.

Chairman James at 4:15 announced that the roll call for the presidential nomination would be resumed at once. Several minutes were required to clear the floor.

Alabama was the first state called, and applause greeted the announcement from Gov. O'Neal that Alabama casts 24 votes for Oscar W. Underwood.

Wilson enthusiasts in the galleries applauded the first vote cast for their candidate, that of Delaware. The banners dropped from the balcony during the Wilson demonstration early yesterday morning, still blazoned forth their motto: "We want Wilson and Wilson all the time, no compromise."

States continued to follow the first: James before the second ballot results were announced.

"There being no candidate who received two-thirds of the votes," he announced, "the clerk will again call the roll."

On the third roll-call state after state was called without a change from second ballot until Maine was reached. Here the two votes that had gone to Underwood on the first and second ballots went to Wilson, dividing the state delegation, Wilson 11; Clark 1.

New Jersey's two "floating votes," which had been given to William Sulzer on the second ballot, went back to Underwood on the third roll-call.

The Ohio vote on the 24 ballot was challenged by several of the delegates. A poll of the delegation resulted in a gain of two for Wilson, a loss of one for Underwood and the loss of the two votes that had been cast for Clark on the second ballot, but it was the Ohio vote again that made it impossible for any candidate to get the necessary two-thirds vote on the third ballot.

The total results were: Clark, 44; Wilson, 24; Underwood, 11; Harmon, 14; Marshall, 3; Baldwin, 1; Bryan, 1; Kern, 1.

Clark lost 5; Wilson gained 5; Underwood gained 3; Harmon lost 1; Marshall, 1; Baldwin, 1; Bryan, 1; Kern, 1.

"There being no choice," said acting Chairman Francis, "the secretary will again call the roll for the fourth ballot."

Bay State Pair for Underwood

Chairman James took the gavel again and the fourth roll-call started at 5:04 p. m. with the big crowd paying close attention to the vote cast.

The first change came in the Louisiana vote, where Wilson gained one from Clark. The delegation was divided evenly, 19 for each candidate.

Underwood gained two from Clark in the Massachusetts vote on this ballot.

Wilson picked up three votes in Nebraska on the fourth ballot. Clark maintained his strength of 12 votes there. Harmon losing three of the four that he had received on previous ballots. Wilson gained another vote, this time from Clark in New Hampshire.

New York's vote, which had been a center of attention on each roll-call, lost its solid block of 36 votes for Harmon, to whose standard they adhered from the first.

Ohio gave to John W. Kern on the fourth ballot the single remaining Bryan vote. Mr. Bryan dropping out of the list.

Clark gained 9½ votes in Tennessee on the fourth ballot. Underwood lost 5 of these, and Harmon and Wilson each lost a half vote.

The total result was: Clark, 44; Wilson, 34½; Underwood, 12½; Harmon, 13½; Marshall, 3; Baldwin, 1; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1.

Clark gained 2; Wilson gained 4; Underwood lost 2½; Harmon lost 4; Marshall and Baldwin were unchanged, but Bryan lost the two votes he had on the third roll-call, Kern getting both.

Baldwin Drops Out

The fifth roll-call was begun at 6:30 o'clock.

The first break up in the "favorite son" delegation came when Connecticut was reached. Underwood got 10 votes; Clark four, and Wilson one of the 11 votes that had gone to Gov. Baldwin on the four preceding ballots.

The Connecticut change of vote was hailed from cheers by the partisans of the candidates who profited by the switch from the Connecticut candidate.

When Kansas was reached, where Clark had received the solid delegation of 20 in the preceding roll-call, the vote was challenged by J. W. Orr, a Wilson delegate.

B. J. Sheridan, a delegate-at-large, read to the convention the resolutions of the Kansas state convention, under which the delegates were bound to vote for Clark until two-thirds believe he cannot be nominated.

"The delegation stands 11 for Wilson, nine for Clark," said Mr. Sheridan, "and under our instructions I am bound to cast the 20 votes for Champ Clark."

Chairman Ollie James ruled that "as long as two-thirds of the delegates from Kansas have not decided that Clark has no chance for the nomination, the Kansas vote must be cast for Clark 'in its entirety.'"

"Do you want a poll of your delegation?" he asked of the Kansas delegates.

"Yes," shouted Delegate Orr, "call the roll of the delegates!" The Kansas instructions authorized the delegates to vote for Wilson as second choice when it became the belief of two-thirds that Clark could not be nominated.

The poll of the delegation sustained the statements of Mr. Sheridan, that the Kansas delegates stood, Wilson 11; Clark 3. Chairman James held that the entire vote must go to Clark under the rule.

"With Clark leading the balloting," he said, "two-thirds do not say that he cannot win. The vote stands 11 for Wilson and 9 for Clark."

The chair ordered that the instructions of the democracy in that state be carried out, and the 20 votes of Kansas be cast for Champ Clark.

The ruling met with no opposition from the Wilson forces on the floor and was vigorously applauded by the adherents of Clark.

Recess After Fifth Ballot

When Maryland was called there was no response. The state was passed temporarily, while the delegation conferred over its vote.

Clark lost one vote to Wilson in New Hampshire on the fifth ballot. Clark gained two immediately afterward in New Jersey, picking up the two "floating votes" that had been cast for now.

Clark four votes in New Jersey.

Harmon gained one in his own state, Ohio, and Clark also gained one. Wilson and Kern each lost a vote in Ohio.

The Tennessee vote, which had fluctuated widely on the preceding roll-calls, gave Gov. Harmon an increase of eight votes on the fifth ballot. Clark lost 6½; Wilson 1 and Underwood 1 vote. Harmon gaining 8½ votes as follows: Clark, 41; Wilson, 31; Underwood, 11; Marshall, 3; Harmon, 14½; Marshall, 3; Baldwin, 1; Kern, 1.

The changes from the preceding ballot were: Wilson gained 1½; Underwood gained 7½; Harmon gained 8. The vote of Clark, Marshall and Kern was unchanged.

After the announcement of the result of the fifth ballot, Chairman James recognized a motion to recess until 9:30 this evening. He announced that as last night's session would be the eighth and as the tickets to the convention had only eight coupons, the final coupons would be recognized for admission for succeeding sessions.

There was a chorus of disapproval when the motion to adjourn was put, but James declared it carried. The convention adjourned at 7:15 until 9:30.

Shed Coats and Collars

A general understanding that spread throughout the city to the effect that a nomination would be made before the adjournment of last night's session, filled the galleries long before the regular hour for the closing of the convention.

The heat was worse than during Thursday night's session, and the delegates, in addition to discarding their coats, stripped of their wadded collars.

Some of the managers of the rival forces were on the floor early strengthening their lines among the delegates and seeking to find weak spots in the lineup of their opponents.

The Wilson forces asserted confidently that the consistent gains shown by Wilson in the first five ballots indicated a strength that would gradually increase as the balloting continued.

The Clark forces, on the other hand, claimed to have enough delegates pledged to nominating the dead-end indefinitely. If Wilson's gains continued.

At 9:30 the aisles were in great confusion and the police and the secret anti-army tried in vain to clear them.

At 9:40 the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." Every one in the hall rose and the confusion in the aisles increased. Many women appeared in the delegates' seats on the floor and there was much visiting back and forth among the various delegations.

Chairman James called the convention to order at 9:42. Gradually the disorder subsided and Rev. George F. Dunbar of Washington offered prayer. He concluded amid applause. Prayers of "Good, good" came from the delegates, weary with the lengthy sessions.

First Evening Ballot

Chairman James announced an important correction in the result of the fifth ballot. He then rebroadcast the galleries for hissing and applauding votes and at 9:45 directed the calling of the roll for the sixth ballot.

C. N. Melen, an Oklahoma delegate, tried to move to suspend the two-thirds rule and nominate by a majority vote. A chorus of disapproval greeted the motion and Chairman James quickly sustained a vote of order against it. The roll-call then proceeded.

The roll proceeded without change or incident until Kansas was reached. The delegates and spectators held their breath, half expecting a break in Wilson's favor, following roll-call yesterday which showed the Kansas roll for Wilson and nine for Clark. But the instructions binding them to Clark until two-thirds of the delegation believed his name could not be nominated, held the state in line and its 20 votes were cast for Clark.

A hush of expectation settled over the hall when New York was called, but Chas. F. Murphy rose and as usual announced: "New York casts 30 votes for Harmon."

By this time it became apparent that there would be no nomination on the sixth ballot.

The result was: Clark, 44½; Wilson, 34½; Underwood, 12½; Harmon, 13½; Marshall, 3; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1.

Compared with the fifth ballot, this showed gains of two votes for Clark and three for Wilson. Underwood's vote was the highest so far polled for him. He gained 1½ over the last ballot. Harmon's vote was the lowest he had had.

Anti-Wilson Circular

Immediately the seventh ballot was ordered and the grind went on. There was no change in the vote until Connecticut was reached. After asking to be passed the vote as finally stated showed losses of one each for Clark and Wilson and a gain of two for Underwood.

While the roll call was proceeding a circular denouncing Wilson was distributed among the delegates. A Wisconsin man from New Jersey objected and the distribution was ordered stopped. It took a squad of police to stop it, and for a few minutes trouble seemed imminent. But the disorder was quickly and the roll call proceeded.

In Ohio Wilson gained one. Clark gained two and Harmon lost three.

The wabbling Tennessee delegation shifted again. Clark gained 1½; Wilson lost 2½; Underwood gained ½ and Harmon lost 1½.

The result of the seventh ballot was: Clark, 49½; Wilson, 35½; Underwood, 12½; Harmon, 12½; Marshall, 3; Bryan, 1; Kern, 1.

The changes were immaterial. Clark gained 5½; Wilson lost 1½; Underwood gained 3½; Harmon lost 1½; Marshall, 3; Bryan, 1; Kern, 1.

The chair announced no nomination and the roll call was begun for the eighth time.

James and Gaynor Score

The first change on the eighth ballot came on the vote of Michigan. Harmon lost one of his three votes from the previous roll call, the one vote going to Underwood.

Clark gained one vote from Wilson in Nebraska, the first change in the vote between the two leading candidates.

The roll call of New York was the same as before with Charles F. Murphy's monotonous "New York casts 30 for Harmon" as the focal point of the proceedings.

In North Carolina Wilson gained one from the Underwood column.

In Ohio Wilson lost one and it placed Chairman Ollie James on the roll.

Tennessee made another change of its vote. Clark lost two, Underwood half a vote, Harmon gained 1½ and Mayor Gaynor of New York secured one vote, the first cast for him.

The result of the eighth ballot: Clark, 49½; Wilson, 35½; Underwood, 12½; Harmon, 12½; Marshall, 3; Bryan, 1; Kern, 1; Gaynor, 1; James, 1.

The changes from the seventh ballot were: Clark lost one, Wilson lost one, Underwood lost ½, Harmon gained 1½, Gaynor and James were added to the list with one vote each.

The announcement of the vote was followed by the start of the ninth roll-call at 11:25 o'clock.

The results of the other ballots were:

Ninth Ballot—Clark, 48½; Wilson, 35½; Underwood, 12½; Harmon, 12½; Marshall, 3; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1; Gaynor, 1; James, 1.

Tenth Ballot—Clark, 53½; Wilson, 35½; Underwood, 12½; Harmon, 31; Marshall, 3; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1.

Eleventh Ballot—Clark, 55½; Wilson, 34½; Underwood, 11½; Harmon, 29; Marshall, 3; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1.

Twelfth Ballot—Clark, 51½; Wilson, 34½; Underwood, 12½; Harmon, 29; Marshall, 3; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1; not voting, 1.

Next week is "Quarter Week" at The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

BY HIDE & LEATHER CO. MUTUAL BENEFIT ASSOCIATION

The American Hide & Leather company factory was the scene of an enthusiastic gathering on Wednesday afternoon, when about two hundred of the employees came together at 2 o'clock to organize a Mutual Benefit Association. The by-laws as adopted provide for sick benefits at the rate of 33 per week for a period not exceeding nine weeks in 12 consecutive months. There is also a death benefit of $100, furnished through the Massachusetts Savings Bank Life Insurance System. More than 250 persons have already made application for membership.

The membership is of two classes—those under 40 years of age at the time of making application, paying 35 cents a month—and persons 40 years of age and over at the time of making application, paying 50 cents a month.

Miss Alice H. Grady, financial secretary of the Massachusetts Savings Insurance league, was present from Boston to explain the provisions relating to membership, and the sickness and death benefits. Mr. William J. Montgomery, state auditor, was also present and spoke.

Officers were elected under the by-laws as follows:

President, George Ryan; vice president, Hollis Forrest; secretary, Fred Flaherty; treasurer, George Weston.

Executive board: Charles Riley, Philip Fiedreau, James Carney. These three, together with the five officers of the association, constitute an executive board of eight persons under article IV, section 1.

Investigation committee: John Burke, Edward Lenoar, Cyrus Hoy, John Corey, Oliver Brunell, Stethel Ballis.

The funds of the association are to be contributed to by Mr. Chas. Palen Hall, vice president of the American Hide & Leather company, in the sum of $200 annually.

WESTFORD ACADEMY

GRADUATION EXERCISES WERE HELD YESTERDAY

The graduation exercises of the Westford academy were held yesterday morning and seven girls and four boys received their diplomas. There was a large attendance and the affair proved to be a success. "Not to Hold, But to Share" was the class motto.

The program opened with a selection by the Geimants orchestra of Lowell, followed by prayer by Rev. David Wallace. The valedictory essay, "Socialism in Theory and Practice" was given by Herbert Halden Walker. The three other essays given were: "The Chestnut Blight," by Chester A. Burnham; "The Red Cross," by Evelyn C. Hamlin, and "The Hague Conference,"

PHYSICIANS PRESCRIBE IT

Physicians frequently prescribe Chelmsford Ginger Ale for convalescing patients. The high-grade Fruit Juices used only in Chelmsford Ginger Ale counteract the astringent tendency of the Ginger. This, with the exceptional purity of the water used, the extreme care taken in its preparation and bottling are the particular features which recommend it.

PAINT SHOP WAS GUTTED BY A THREATENING FIRE

Men Run When Oil Fumes Ignite —Malden Fireman Burned While Helping

BOSTON, June 29.—Too close contact between a hand lamp and four barrels of linseed oil and turpentine was responsible for a spectacular four-alarm fire between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon which gutted the 4½ story brick building at the corner of Sudbury street, Portland street and Sudbury square, occupied on the ground floor by the A. A. White company, dealers in paint, oil and varnish.

It was the second serious fire there in a little more than two weeks. Jeremiah Downey of 2 Chambers street, West End, another white man and six negroes were engaged in salvage work on the ground floor when a lamp, carried by one of the men, was placed so close to some barrels that the vapor took fire and the flames communicated to the floor.

At the first burst of flame the men ran into the street. A moment later a series of explosions showed that the fire had reached the oil and turpentine and in a short time the entire lower floor was aflame.

The fire at first skipped the second floor and attacked the third and fourth stories. Before many minutes, however, the entire building was blazing fiercely, and when the first of the fire apparatus arrived the flames on the Portland street side were shooting at least half way across the street. Thick clouds of smoke from the oil and turpentine rolled out.

Neighboring Building Drenched
An alarm was sent from box 709 at 421, followed almost immediately by a third and fourth alarm. Fifteen engines, three water towers and four ladder trucks were employed in fighting the fire.

Several savings on the front of Donnelly's hotel on Portland street, directly opposite the burning building, were set on fire by sparks, and one of the first things the firemen had to do was to direct streams against these savings to prevent the fire spreading. The sides and roofs of all surrounding buildings were also given a thorough wetting, the force of the streams breaking the glass in many windows. Under the direction of Chief Mullen, the blaze was fought from all three sides of the building. The large quantity of timber in the upper floors, which had been piled there since the fire of two weeks ago, made a great blaze, and for some time long tongues of flames kept bursting from the windows.

Later Tower 1 on the Portland street side did effective work in extinguishing the fire in the top story. The force of the stream tore away quantities of slate from the roof. By 5:15 o'clock the flames had been practically extinguished.

The damage is estimated at $10,000. The fire there June 13 was also caused by an explosion in the paint shop. The loss then was estimated at $50,000. Yesterday when the fire started there was practically nothing on the upper floors but the timber which had been piled there.

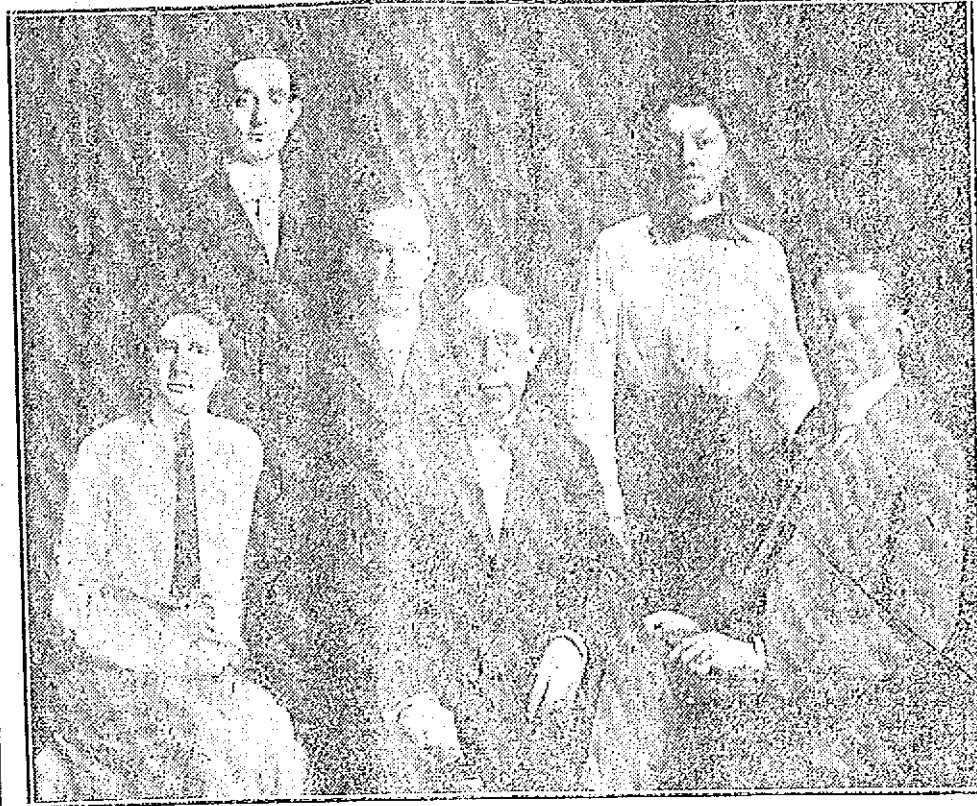

Waitresses Flee from Lunch Room
The only injury yesterday was sustained by W. A. Orcutt, a member of the Malden fire department, who chanced to be in the vicinity and volunteered his services. He was struck in the chest by a flaming ember, receiving a painful burn.

The four-foot fire-wall between the gutted building and the four-story brick structure adjoining it saved the latter from any damage by fire. Occupants of the building next door were much frightened, however, and three waitresses in the Granite State Lunch, occupying the ground floor at 42 Sudbury street, were warned by Crossing Officer Wolf of station 3 to lose no time in seeking safety.

They were Alma Crowell of Somerville, Mary Jacobs of Cambridge and Nellie McCarthy of Charlestown, and were eating their own luncheon at the time. They hastily left the building. Officer Wolf carried out the cash register. The one customer in the restaurant ran to the street, leaving his supper behind him.

Fifty patrolmen from divisions 1, 2 and 3 kept the great crowd well in check.

79 GRADUATES RECEIVED DIPLOMAS

GRADUATION CLASS OF LOWELL COMMERCIAL COLLEGE

Exercises of the Lowell Commercial College Held Last Night—An Excellent Program Was Offered by the Pupils

A class of 79 young men and young women were graduated from the Lowell Commercial college last night. The exercises of graduation were held in the Associate hall. Arthur L. Gray, president of the Lowell board of trade, presided and the principal address was by Arthur K. Whitcomb, superintendent of schools. Fifty-four of the seventy-nine graduates were from the day class and the remainder from the evening class. Mayor James E. O'Donnell presented the diplomas and flowers were given the graduates with their diplomas. The class gift to the school was a framed picture, "Sir Galahad." It was presented by the president of the class, Herbert C. Locke, and accepted on behalf of the school by P. Arthur Spence. There were bouquets presented by the class to the lady teachers.

Superintendent Whitcomb spoke in part as follows: "The honor of appearing on this program is one that I appreciate very highly. The occasion itself is a very auspicious one. It is the going out of a large number of young men and young women who have been educated in this school. We are always interested in those who begin life, that they shall be well qualified and shall begin well."

"I believe that commercial schools are constantly growing in importance all over the United States. They are stronger today than were many of the colleges 50 or 100 years ago. It is true that I am connected with another branch of education, and yet we are not in any sense competitors, but supplement each other's work, and ought to have the most helpful and kindly relations to each other. The public schools are the foundation of this school. It is true that we have in our high school some of the branches that are taught here; but that is a part of the four-year course, and does not meet the requirements of those who want to take the short cut. There is every opportunity for the kindest and most fraternal feelings between the two classes of schools."

Speaking to the graduates, he said: "These diplomas are nice things to have; but they will never make you great, or earn for you high salaries. But the qualities that you exercised in earning these diplomas, are the very qualities that lead to success. Theodore Roosevelt has made himself famous by reiterating the golden rule, although it has been said that he has seemed to think that he was the discoverer of it. However that may be, he has reiterated the 'square deal' until he has made himself famous. There are certain fundamental qualities that every one of us has got to have in order to succeed. In the first place, we have to be honest. That means being honest not only in matters of money and time, but in service. It means giving one's best; that kind of honesty which makes one remember that the very best one has in him is always due to his employer. It is due from me to the city; it is due from every one of these graduates to his employer."

"At the recent high school graduation the valedictorian spoke of service as the measure of greatness. He held to the idea that that man was the greatest man who had rendered the greatest service to his fellow men. I believe that that is true; and I believe that it reaches from the highest to the lowest. The greatness that gives the real happiness of life comes from doing something for somebody. If you work for pay, for thanks, for gratitude, you will miss happiness. If you work with the idea of being useful to somebody, you will have satisfaction yourself, and you will probably have more money, although that I cannot be sure of."

Presenting the diplomas, Mayor J. E. O'Donnell said: "The city of Lowell is justly proud of its educational institutions, public and private; for they are on a par with any in the state, and the commonwealth of Massachusetts stands at the head of the nation in the excellence of its schools and institutions of learning. In regard to commercial colleges I think I may say without exaggeration that Lowell stands at the head of the state, for the Lowell Commercial college with the fine record of over 50 years of success is today one of the largest, best known and best equipped institutions of its kind in this commonwealth. It has been said that the order of learning should be, first, what is necessary; second, what is useful; and third, what is ornamental. But in this age of the survival of the fittest, I would substitute for the ornamental, the practical; for, while education of any nature is a grand thing, there is nothing like an education that combines the theoretical and the practical, and such we have in our Textile school, our Industrial school and in the Lowell Commercial college. The Lowell Commercial college possesses an important advantage that should commend it to all who seek a business education, and that is the fact that a diploma is practically the assurance of a good position. But further than this, I understand that the management not only sees to it that its pupils receive a thorough business education, but takes a personal interest in them after they have gone forth by placing them in positions whenever it is possible. This deep personal interest of the school in its pupils has been a factor in its success while the satisfaction given by graduates of the college to their employers has contributed to it in no small measure. In presenting you the certificates of your proficiency I feel confident that you will hold up the enviable record of your Alma Mater, and I join with your teachers and friends in wishing you long life, prosperity and success."

The program of exercises was as follows:
March, "Roosevelt".....Cushman Orchestra.
Address of Welcome, Arthur L. Gray.
President of Lowell Board of Trade.
Overture, "Lullaby".....Keller-Bela Orchestra.
Address to graduates, Arthur K. Whitcomb.

STRIKE ORDERED BY SEAMEN'S UNION

The Men Were Slow in Responding

NEW YORK, June 29.—Leaders of the coastwise seamen's union called a strike shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. The men were slow in responding and during the first hour only four boats were effected. They cannot bring a strike for the Seafarers, the Hamilton of the Old Dominion line, and the Arapahoe of the Clyde line. The leaders were unable to estimate the number of men who quit work. The strikers included deck hands, marine firemen and the others and the leaders assert that 15,000 men will be out by nightfall and that all Atlantic coast shipping will be tied up. H. H. Alfie, president of the American S. S. association and vice president and general manager of the Clyde line, said that the walkout would "be an inconvenience but not serious."

AN EXAMINATION FOR SCHOLARSHIP IN BOSTON COLLEGE HIGH SCHOOL

An examination for scholarships in Boston college high school was held at St. Michael's parochial school this morning. Annually the graduates of grammar and parochial schools of the Boston diocese are given an opportunity to compete for four scholarships in the well known college high school and today the examinations were held in the different cities. The local examination started at nine o'clock this morning and was in progress for four hours, that being the time allowed for the examination. The faculty of the college presided over the examination here and the competitors were from several schools. The examination included English grammar, English composition, spelling, arithmetic, geography and history. The contestants are numbered and names are placed on the papers. The latter are then sent to Boston where they are examined and corrected and the results will not be made known for several weeks.

REV. FR. MEAGHER TO CELEBRATE MASS AT ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH TOMORROW

Rev. Patrick Meagher, a native of Lowell and a brother of Dr. Meagher of Centralville, who was recently ordained to the priesthood in Rome, will celebrate the 10:45 o'clock mass at St. Michael's tomorrow. Fr. Meagher arrived in this city Wednesday and tomorrow's mass will be his first high mass.

FUNERALS

GANNON—The funeral of Mrs. Mary A. Gannon took place this morning at 9:30 from her home, 14 Cedar street, and proceeded to St. Peter's church, where a solemn high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. D. J. Heffernan. Rev. W. G. Mullin, deacon, and Fr. Burns, sub-deacon. The choir, under the direction of James E. Donnelly, sang the Gregorian mass, the spots of the mass being sung by Miss Gertrude Kiecher and James E. Donnelly. Mrs. J. W. McKennedy presided at the organ. The bearers were Daniel J. Gorman, John H. Keenan, Patrick A. Rogers, George B. McKenna, Thomas A. Moloney, Hugh Gilder. Burial took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the communal prayers were read by Fr. Heffernan. Funeral Director John Rogers in charge.

Among the floral offerings were: Pillow inscribed "Dear Mother," wreath of the services, and flowers inscribed "Grandma," sheaf of wheat from Ryan family, spray of cypress palms and larkspur from Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gorman; and other floral tributes.

HANSCOM—The funeral of Aaron B. Hanscom took place yesterday afternoon from the rooms of Undertaker George W. Healey, 79 Church street. The services were conducted by Rev. Asa H. Dilts, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church. Appropriate selections were sung by Mrs. Frank H. Page and Miss Ruth E. Foss. The bearers were Messrs. Eugene H. Morrill, George W. Ingalls, Burial was in the family lot in the Edson cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

BESE—The funeral of Edward H. Besse took place from his residence, 581 Rogers street, Friday. Rev. M. J. Lyle of St. Paul's church conducted the services. The bearers were Messrs. Judge Ashworth, Brooks and Savage. There was a number of beautiful floral tributes. Burial was in the Edson cemetery, in charge of Undertaker John A. Weinbeck. Mrs. Charles Jenkins of Lynn sang "There is a Land of Pure Delight," "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," and "Ave with Me."

DEATHS

WALDRON—Mrs. Mary Waldron, aged 31 years, died yesterday at North Reading, Mass., after a lingering illness. She leaves her husband, John J. Waldron; her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William McDade in Ireland; also five sisters, Mrs. Martin Ford and Mrs. Martin Tierney of Lowell, Elizabeth, Margaret and Agnes McDade in Ireland. The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of James W. McKenna, 419 Bridge street.

LAPOINTE—Mary Lapointe, aged 50 years, a well known resident, died yesterday at the Lowell General hospital. The body was taken to the rooms of J. P. O'Donnell & Sons.

BASS—Mrs. Elizabeth G. Bass, wife of Dr. William Bass, died yesterday at her home, 43 Tyler street, aged 80 years and 4 months. Besides her husband, she leaves one daughter, Mrs. L. B. Leonard of this city; one grandson, Rev. W. B. Leonard of Indianapolis, Ind.; two sisters, Mrs. Minerva Everett of Racine, Wis., and Mrs. H. L. Crain of this city, and one brother, Horace Hunt, of Salem, N. H.

CATON—James C. Caton died last night at his home, 125 Summer street, aged 65 years, 3 months and 8 days. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Annie B. Caton; three sons, Ernest, William and Pearl Caton, and three daughters, Mrs. Donald McRitchie, Mrs. John Wadley and Mrs. Fred Spaulding. Mrs. Caton was a member of Post 129, G. A. R.

FIREWORKS EXPLODED

Miniature Fourth of July Celebration

A miniature Fourth of July celebration occurred in Thorndike street at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, when a wagon loaded with fireworks of all descriptions tipped over, a large number of torpedoes exploding in the street. The wagon is the property of A. B. Humphrey, the livery stable man, while the contents belonged to G. Lemkin, who keeps a place of business at 102 Chelmsford street. The accident was the result of a runaway, and if the horse had not been caught by John Brady of 3 Hale street court the damage would have been far greater.

Shortly after 1 o'clock Mr. Lemkin drove to his store in Chelmsford street with a load of fireworks, the horse and wagon having been hired at Humphrey's stable. Mr. Lemkin took the bride off his horse and was just feeding the animal when it suddenly started at a very lively rate of speed, being scared probably by the explosion of a firecracker. The horse with its load speeded along Chelmsford street and turned into Thorndike street toward Middlesex street. A number of pedestrians who were crossing the street had a narrow escape from being run over. The animal kept its wild pace down the hill until it reached about half way, when it struck a post and fell to the ground. Mr. Brady, who happened to be on the spot, jumped at the animal's head and held it down until assistance came. The wagon was overturned and its contents, all fireworks, was scattered in the road. A large number of torpedoes exploded in striking the ground, but fortunately the firecrackers and other explosives were not damaged.

The horse made a desperate attempt to get on its feet again, but Mr. Brady managed to keep it down until it was bridled. The horse was not injured, but one of the rear springs on the wagon was broken.

Money deposited today at The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank begins to draw interest July 6th.

160 MILE RACE

WAS STARTED FROM NEWPORT. R. I. TODAY.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 29.—With booms well off to port, big reaching sails out ahead and a ten knot smoky southwester over the starboard quarter, seven schooners and three sloops left here today on a race of 160 miles to Marblehead, Mass. Six of the schooners sailed in the second race for the Clark gold cup, won last year by the Elena. Four small schooners also started for a cup offered by former Commodore Thomas. Three sloops had as an incentive a cup donated by Captain Henry A. Morris. The start was from Brenton's Reef Lightship. The yachts came out of the harbor at 9 a. m. and all had their working sails set and were leading about the lightship when the preparatory signal was sounded at ten o'clock. The schooners were sent away ten minutes later and the Princess, owned and sailed by Demarest Lloyd, went sweeping across the line five seconds after the whistle. Behind her and to leeward came the Iroquois and still farther east on the weather quarter of the Iroquois was the Elena. The Muriel, Shyessa and Vagrant were between the larger schooners.

The Enchantress misjudged the time and had to relinquish a fine place out ahead of the Iroquois in order to make a restart.

Among the sloops, the Doris led with the Shilma in second place and the Acushla II bringing up the rear.

AMATEUR GAMES WERE ATTENDED BY LARGE CROWDS THIS AFTERNOON

As there was no league game in this city today the fans were numerous at the many amateur games that were on for this afternoon. A large crowd went to the game on the South common between the Manhattan and the Lincoln, and many also took in the Y. M. C. A. game at Washington park. On the North common there were several games on and large crowds were on hand to cheer their favorite on to victory. The South End went to Graniteville to play the team of that borough and the local boys were accompanied by a large following.

COURT MIDDLESEX OUTING

The twenty-ninth annual outing and picnic of Court Middlesex, No. 23, Foresters of America, is being held at Nahasset grove, in West Chelmsford, today. While no special cars were engaged several extras were pressed into service to accommodate the large number that went to the outing. Upon the arrival of the members at the grounds all proceeded to enjoy the day. A grand list of sports, including a ball game, for which suitable prizes were awarded the winners, was held and during the entire afternoon and evening dancing was enjoyed, music being furnished by the Vesper orchestra of eight pieces.

I. W. W. Outing

The members of the local branch of the I. W. W. are holding an outing at Dewey Grove, on the Lawrence road, today. They went to the grove this afternoon and will remain there, enjoying a fine program, until late this evening.

COMPENSATION ACT IS CAUSING WORRY

For the Mayor and City Solicitor

The act relative to payment to employees for personal injuries received in the course of their employment, and the prevention of such injuries, will become operative next Monday morning, July 1, and the act is giving Mayor O'Donnell, City Solicitor Hennessy, and others, considerable concern. It is not known just how the act will affect city employees though it is known that the firemen and policemen are exempt because of pension and protection in other ways.

The act is known as The Workmen's Compensation Act and inasmuch as the municipal council does not meet before July 1, the mayor has authorized the city solicitor to arrange for the protection of the city until such time as the municipal council shall decide whether or not the city will accept the act.

"If the city does not accept the act," said the mayor, "it practically loses all ordinary defenses used in suits for personal injury. The city solicitor and myself have talked the matter over and we realize that it means quite an additional expense to the city. If the city accepts the act it will have to do business with the insurance company. If the city doesn't accept the act the city would, in a case of suit for personal injury brought by one or more of its employees, be denied the right to use or refer to the doctrine of assumption of risk, contributory negligence or fellow servant doctrine and, as a matter of fact the price would be set and the city would have to pay it. I have talked with insurance men and they are at sea yet as regards the operation of it as it applies to cities and the matter will have to be gone over thoroughly."

The employer who accepts the act, and it is known that about all of the mills and larger manufacturing establishments throughout the city have decided to accept it, will have to post a notice to employees. The notice will have to state with what company the employer has insured.

It is believed that the new law will be given a fair trial before any attempt will be made to repeal or modify it.

Neither employees nor employers are compelled to accept the provisions of the act or any part of them. The employees may give notice under the act that they reserve their rights and intend to sue at common law for any injuries they may receive. As to such employees their employers may become liable for such damages at common law as a jury will assess entirely irrespective of whether or not the employers have adopted the compensation scheme provided for in the act.

REV. FR. MICHAEL E. DOHERTY

No. Chelmsford Clergyman Transferred to
So. Boston Parish

It was with sincere regret that the members of St. John's and St. Catherine's parishes learned of the transfer of Rev. Michael E. Doherty, the beloved curate of the churches for the past two years, who has been called by Cardinal William O'Connell to fill a similar position in the Church of the Holy Rosary, South Boston. In the short space of time that Fr. Doherty has been in North Chelmsford he has endeared himself to all and was loved by all who knew him. He never spared himself in any work he undertook. He took a deep interest in all the society work, having organized the sodality and Holy Name societies, and forming the Catholic club, boy cadets, the choral and Tabernacle societies and worked untiringly for the success of all. His work among the young men and women of the parish was his main object and he was also a great comfort to the sick and needy. Fr. Doherty left this morning for his new field of labor with the deepest regret of the parishioners but with their best wishes for his future success. Fr. Mitchell, the newly appointed curate, has taken up his work and will follow along the lines started by Fr. Doherty.

REV. MICHAEL E. DOHERTY

There is no one who will regret Fr. Doherty's departure more than the pastor, Rev. Fr. Schofield, who found in his curate a hard and conscientious worker to whom he entrusted a number of the parish responsibilities, and who always gave him full support in any work he took in hand.

MOTHERHOOD
SUGGESTIONS

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-Page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it to-day. Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

HEARING GRANTED
TO PETITIONERSWho Object to Signboard on Building

Parties petitioning for the removal of a big sign from the top of the Howe building in Merrimack square were given a hearing last night before Commissioner Lawrence Cummings whose department includes public property. Inspector Connors of the buildings department was present and said that the sign in question entails a weight of 75 pounds to the square foot, where but 50 pounds are allowed. Mr. Cummings said that he intended to look over all the large signs in the city and the signs that he considers unsafe he says he will order down.

Present at the hearing were John H. Murphy, representing the Lowell board of trade; Walter Howe, owner of the Howe building; Albert S. Howard, representing the Hildreth association; William H. Wilson, representing the B. C. Maxwell sign company, of Trenton, N. J.; Francis A. Connor, inspector of buildings, and City solicitor J. Joseph Hennessy.

While Mr. Wilson objected to all kinds of signs he did not like the idea of having his client picked out as an example. Mr. Wilson said he hoped the time would come when some ordinance might be framed which would cause all objectionable signs on buildings to be removed. He cited numerous instances of them, whiskey signs, ale and beer signs, tire signs, history signs, etc. Many of these are rare films in construction than the sign on the Howe building, a majority of them are much larger and a large percent do not represent companies doing business in this city. He objected to the array of advertisements in street cars, and to the painted signs on the sides of buildings, and said he sincerely hoped the time would come when all of them would be legislated away. He said his client would be willing to make all necessary alterations on the sign in question and Commissioner Cummings took the matter under advisement.

TITANIC WIDOWS

UNITE AND HAVE VOWED LIFE-LONG FRIENDSHIP

NEW YORK, June 29.—Three well known women who survived the wreck of the Titanic, while their husbands perished, have just sealed a compact of lifeline love and friendship. They are the widows of John Jacob Astor, George D. Widener and John B. Thayer.

The "news" was revealed a few days ago by Mrs. Astor to several of her friends, after she returned from a visit of a week to her two "sisters-in-mourning."

The invitation to visit Philadelphia came to Mrs. Astor from Mrs. Thayer about 19 days ago.

As if to disprove the stories that are afloat concerning a break in her health, Mrs. Astor, in an open automobile, drove up and down Fifth avenue yesterday afternoon. Beside her sat her mother, Mrs. William N. Force, wearing her famous string of pearls and petting the toy terrier to which she is devoted.

Mrs. Astor has selected a summer home for her parents at Bernardville, N. J. It is expected that Mr. and Mrs. Force, with their daughter Catherine, will remove from the town house at East Thirty-seventh street within a few days.

Vincent Astor dropped into the city over Wednesday night, but returned yesterday to his country home at Rhinebeck. He will sail for Europe soon and join his mother.

Convenience for a Short Trip.

THE moderate prices at which smart motor garb may be picked up now, are really remarkable. In the cold weather a fur motor coat is the only thing that can keep the motorist comfortable, for bleak winter winds search through the heaviest woven fabrics; but in summer there are scores of knowing-looking coats to be had for prices within the reach of everybody—and even if the motor coat is not a necessity for constant wear, but merely a useful possession to have on hand in case of an unexpected invitation to go a-motoring, it pays to invest in one of these models. Motoring invitations are, such matter of course affairs, now, when every other person owns a car, that one simply must possess a long coat of some kind, and the best all-around coat, suitable for steamer and traveling, as well as for automobile wear, is the full length model of tweed or some other mixed worsted material; though the weight may be light as one pleases and the cut and character of the coat will depend upon the price one is willing to pay.

Linen coats are ideal for midsummer motoring and they are both light and cool, and they have a spic and span, fresh look which is very fetching; but a linen coat is an extravagance for the woman who may own but one motor coat a season. It is very rarely, on a trip of longer duration than three or four hours, that chilly enough weather is not encountered to make a warmer coat a very grateful traveling companion. The wind is apt to turn easterly; a fog may come up; coolness may descend with the night-dew; or an accident may delay the car and force its occupants to sit still for a long time, after dark—and only a motorist knows how chilled to the bone one may become on a midsummer night when the thermometer, during the day, has soared among the nineties.

Motor Coats Now Fall to the Knee.

Three-quarter coats are now the faddish thing for motor wear, and when the query comes, "Why three-quarter length?" one is tempted to retort, "Why not?" In a sheltered tonneau, the full length coat is really superfluous. The skirt of the gown is little exposed to dust, especially when there is a light laprobe in the car; and the very long coat is really only an extra burden to carry on a summer day. So long as a coat is long enough to cover the hips and to stay down when one is seated in the car, no matter how the wind blows, whether it is full-length, three-quarter length or seven-eighths length matters little. At any rate the three-quarter coat is smart—and the fashion—and what more need be said?

One of these three-quarter models, made of white basket weave cloth, was seen the other day in the window of a shop that caters to a fashionable clientele. The coat was lined with white foulard having a jolly pattern in pale yellow and faint green; and this dainty silk showed on the turned-back revers and turned-back cuffs, though the deep collar was of the white basket weave. The revers could be worn up or down and the coat fastened at the left of the front with big white pearl buttons with green enamel centers. It was very smart, and very youthful. Another three-quarter coat of gray and white boucle in the same window was lined with gay red silk in a lovely flame shade. There was a stitched belt with a red enamel clasp and the buttons were of red enamel with pearl rims. Altogether a cheerful and fetching coat—and in the child knee-length.

One of these three-quarter coats in a very practical style is illustrated. The material is tan vicuna and the coat is smartly simple and straight in cut, with a wide, buttoned belt at the back and patch pockets fastened down with buttons and buttonholes. This coat is worn with a motor frock of blue whipcord, made in simple, tailored fashion. The bonnet is a decidedly fetching and very practical affair of blue silk. The long pale tan veil passes under buttoned straps on the pleated crown.

"Shore" Motor Coats With Bright Linings.

Stunning full length coats of white basket weave fabric with a reverse of green or tan, are called "shore" coats and are intended for motoring about in a smart summer colony where the roads are not dusty and when one does not expect to ride any farther than to the casino, or country club, or to a friend's home. These coats are, particularly smart and dainty, for they are cut on narrow, clinging lines and are faultlessly finished and stitched. The reverse side is in some bright color—usually the ultra fashionable hunting green, or a light golden tan, and large white pearl buttons add an effective contrast. These coats come also in Scotch mixtures with a backing of gray or brown, for more substantial motor use.

English coats are built for storm as well as sunshine, for one never knows what sort of weather is going to be encountered in England and Scotland. A very smart touring coat, recently ordered by a young woman who is to motor through Scotland in August, is of rough striped cheviot with a double breasted front that buttons snugly to the throat, huge patch pockets and wide cuffs that lie flat against the sleeves. There is a detachable leather lining, exquisitely fashioned of soft, fine grained calfskin, which may be slipped under this good looking cheviot coat on stormy or chilly mornings. A well cut motor coat for wet weather wear is illustrated in the garment of waterproof fabric which has admirable lines and the loose raglan shoulders which are graceful and comfortable also, when such a wrap is slipped on over another coat. This raincoat is dark gray in color and is accompanied by a practical little motor hat of braid trimmed straw with a waterproof silk crown.

Most attractive is the snow white motor coat, accompanied by a white hat, gloves and footwear. A new white coat, built of vicuna, is pictured and the illustration shows the new shoulder line and large armhole, with a loose sleeve and a double breasted front, tapering at the foot of the coat in rounded effect.

A French Coat of Especial Distinction.

Distinguished by its graceful lines rather than by any sportiness of character, is the French motor coat, or "race" coat, designed for wear over elaborate lingerie frocks. This coat is built of marine blue cloth with a collar of velvet in the same rich shade; and bluish steel buttons at the ends of the straps on the sleeve add a touch of contrast. The lines are strikingly simple and distinctive, the drapery of the coat crossing from one shoulder to the opposite hip at front and back and the sleeves being voluminous affairs, set in with stitched pleats at the shoulder and hanging bag-fashion on the arm. Only the skill of a French couturier could cut such a coat and achieve anything but a clumsy effect, but the lines of this wrap are narrow and tapering toward the foot, while at the top the shoulders are gracefully full. A scarf of accordion pleated blue chiffon is draped around the top and along the front opening, finishing in a huge choux and ends at the waistline.

The motor bonnet shown with this marine blue wrap is a particularly modish affair made of white felt and marine blue satin. A big white felt crown lays down over the marine blue brim and the bonnet is trimmed with a band and simple Alsattienne bow of white grosgrain ribbon. White silk gloves embroidered with marine blue complete the costume.

Smart Boots Worn With Motor Togs.

No other out of door sport permits the dainty footwear that may be worn with motor garb. Sitting still in a tonneau, one may affect any sort of frivolous boots one pleases, and it is seldom that the fair motorist has to walk farther than from her car into a restaurant, or across a club lawn. Under the heaviest, most practical looking coats of rough cheviot and tweed, accompanied by stormy weather bonnets and all the correct motor paraphernalia for a long and dusty trip, one sees the daintiest little boots or slippers, with dancing soles and Louis heels, and smart, dressy footwear seems to be the rule generally for automobile wear. Usually, the buttoned boot or oxford, or the gay little buckled Colonial pump is selected to match the frock worn beneath the motor coat; though with the white coats white buttoned boots or oxfords are often worn, regardless of the frock beneath the snowy coat.

Little Luxuries for the Motor-Maid.

Goggles are a real luxury on a long trip, for no veil of chiffon will prevent the eyes from becoming red and strained if they are forced to meet the strong rush of air hour after hour unprotected by goggles. Motor goggles are liked by some women who object to the disfigurement of goggles. The goggles are shaped like the goggles but have a short handle instead of straps to buckle around the head, and they may be raised or dropped in an instant. They are practical for short rides only, as the arm soon becomes tired of holding up the goggles, even when the elbow rests on the cushioned side of the tonneau.

The automobile reticule is a roomy affair that bears little relation to the dainty bag carried with the visiting or promenade costume. It is made of leather, and is leather-lined, and it is a very luxurious bag. It will have various fittings mounted in gold or silver. These include toilet articles, vanity outfit, and small flasks for toilet waters and the "pick-me-up" which the fair automobilist seldom has with her. There is often room also for a folded nightdress or negligee of soft material, and a silk blouse with fresh collars, if an overnight stop is contemplated.

The tyre trunk is a compact leather case, enclosed in a waterproof cover, which exactly fits in the round opening within the fira tire always carried on a long trip. It is marvelous how much may be packed into one of these circular "trunks" which are carried so conveniently and unobtrusively along with one. The wicker luncheon hamper is another convenience and hold their Own in Popularity

HERE is no more graceful adjunct of the summer costume than the scarf—when rightly manipulated. Some women have the inborn knack of handling a scarf and their manipulation of a few yards of soft, airy fabric is a veritable poem in harmony of line and expression of beautiful movement. A scarf, like a parasol, may be made to express any number of things—from languid indifference to righteous indignation—but it is quite a different type of woman from the coquettish bearer of a parasol, who puts grace and poetic meaning into the handling of a scarf.

The scarf, as a summer wrap, is as fashionable as ever; for it has been found to be an indispensable item of the wardrobe. It is not used with tailored street costumes of serge, or linen, with tub morning frocks or with short-skirted outing frocks; but much the better. Very pretty bridge scarfs for summer piazza wear are made of flowered silk, weighted at the ends with silver tassels. Such a scarf, drawn about the shoulders over a thin lingerie frock will afford just enough protection when sitting still over the bridge table, out of doors, and will also make a very becoming accessory of the costume. Embroidered glove-silk scarfs are also charming for afternoon piazza wear. These scarfs are made of very soft, supple silk and have a texture like the long silk gloves worn with summery frocks. The scarfs come in lovely, subdued colorings and in white and some of them are embroidered across the ends in harmonizing colors. A scarf of this sort is pictured on the standing figure. The frock is of white crepe, worn with white buttoned boots and a broad green leather belt, and the graceful bridge scarf is of white glove silk embroidered on the ends in pale green. The costume is completed by a leg-horn hat, faced with black velvet and trimmed with a shaded green and white plume.

Evening scarfs of meline, or tulle, are the summer craze in Paris. These scarfs are selected to form a harmonizing note with the color scheme of the costume and when a great couturier makes the selection the effect is apt to be exquisitely beautiful and in gray and silver threads at the ends, the embroidered design showing the Empire wreath and a Greek border pattern popular in the days of the first Empire. Long gray silk fringe finishes the ends of this scarf. The second scarf is a shaped model which has the effect of a little "mantle" on the figure, the point hanging almost to the waistline at the back, while the fronts are supposed to be crossed, surplice fashion, and pinned against the waist at the front under a cluster of artificial flowers. This scarf is made of embroidered Japanese crepe and is in the lovely Japanese hawthorn blue shade with embroideries in blues and white.

The sequined Oriental scarfs are not as fashionable as they were, though women who possess very handsome models are of course wearing them, for anything supremely elegant is its own excuse for being—whether it is modish or not. More fashionable now are the scarfs embroidered with tiny metal beads and black chiffon scarfs embroidered with steel beads and trimmed with steel bead fringe are particularly rich and heavy.

Outrich and marabout scarfs and stoles continue to be modish and particularly so are the long stoles of shaded ostrich, with tassels swaying at the end. A beautiful stole of this sort, in shaded gray and pink ostrich, was noted the other day with a smoke gray crepe de chine gown, worn at a June wedding. The gray hemp hat had shaded gray and pink plumes to match; otherwise the costume was entirely gray, even the buttoned boots being of gray satin.

with trailing evening gowns and the type of afternoon costumes that is worn upon semi-formal occasions it is ideal. In itself, the scarf conveys a suggestion of stateliness and dignity and it always makes an out of door costume more formal. It gives its wearer a pleasant feeling of being properly dressed for out of doors without the discomfort of an actual wrap and is in fact a compromise between "going out in one's figure" as they say in the country and an actual coat or wrap worn over the gown. For this reason, the scarf is especially appreciated by wearers of mourning. A mourning gown never seems quite correct, worn uncovered in the street with a veiled mourning hat or bonnet, and the scarf of crepe or of black crepe de chine gives just the touch of formality needed. Mourning scarves of crepe de chine are sometimes gathered at the ends and weighted with black tassels. The crepe scarfs are usually hemmed straight across the end with a rather deep hem and are long enough to wrap gracefully around the shoulders and fall to the knee at the front.

The longer the scarf is, the more easily and gracefully may it be manipulated and if the ends are weighted, so artistic. At a large affair in Paris last month several of these airy tulle scarfs were seen. A white one, feathered as a white cloud, was wound around the shoulders above a white and silver gown. A black tulle scarf studded with silver sequins gave an indescribable touch of grace to a night-black costume and most beautiful was a mauve scarf tossed over a chairback, behind a woman wearing a pale green satin gown.

Two very graceful new scarfs for summer wear are illustrated. One is an Empire scarf designed for lining or carriage wear over dressy afternoon costumes, and is of Empire green crepe de chine with embroidery turns is a novelty in automobile wear and is designed for touring wear, when one is to spend the time partly in the car and partly exploring the country and towns on foot. The costume includes a simple yet smartly cut coat and a skirt of lightweight worsted material to be worn with tailored silk blouses that may be carried in the tyre trunk. With one extra frock of foul-aid or other soft fabric for occasional wear, and with a waterproof raglan for stormy days, one could tour through England or France very comfortably in such a costume.

The scarf is a graceful addition to any costume.

PALZER KNOCKED OUT THE BRITISH CHAMPION

The Bout Ended in the Third Round—Blow Near Heart Did the Business

NEW YORK, June 29.—Al Palzer, the local heavyweight with white hope aspirations, knocked out Bombarlier Wells, the heavyweight champion of England, in the third round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Madison-square garden last night.

Wells' seconds threw up the sponge as the Britisher dropped from the effect of a deadly right body blow and lay inert in the ring.

Palzer, who had been knocked down by the Britisher in the opening round, sent Wells to the floor toward the end of the second session and knocked him down twice in the third. Wells was so shaken up the second time that Palzer planted a hard right below the heart. Wells sank to the floor, crumpled in a heap and lay there helpless while his seconds threw the sponge in the ring, saving the referee the trouble of counting the man out.

It was a rapid and exciting fight from the start, but Palzer's weight began to tell on the Englishman toward the end of the opening round.

Palzer, when he got up, began hitting, but Wells shook him off, sending lefts and rights to the face and ducking under safely from a wild right swing. Then Wells sent two straight lefts to the face, with Palzer playing wildly for the body at the bell. It was Wells' round. Wells landed lefts and rights to the head and Palzer landed with jabs heavily on the body. Wells sent his right to body and head, but Palzer crossed his right to the head. Wells ducked from a right swing and sent a left to the face and also two right uppercuts on the body. He dashed away from Palzer and reached the head with right and left hooks.

Palzer then stepped in and with a right uppercut under the chin and a left hook to the jaw sent Wells down for a count of seven seconds. Both men were sparring at the bell, which rang several seconds later. This also was Wells' round.

In the third round Palzer led a light left to the face and a right hook to the head. Wells swung right to the face and they exchanged lefts on the chest and under the chin. Palzer planted two right uppercuts on the chest and under the chin and Wells put a straight left to the face. Palzer then uppercut with his right and sent Wells down for the count.

When he got up at the count of nine Wells sent a right uppercut and a hook left to the face. Palzer, with a right uppercut out of a clinch, sent Wells down again for another count of nine.

Wells was very weak when he regained his feet and Palzer rushed him, landing a hard right under the chin. Wells crumpled up and sank to the floor without another blow and was lying helpless in the middle of the ring when his seconds threw in the sponge and dragged him to his corner.

The time of the third round was 2:44.

Palzer weighed at the ringside, turning the scale at 223½ pounds, and Wells weighed 40 pounds less, his weight being given at 183½.

"JOE CRISTO"

TO TAKE PART IN GREAT FIELD DAY

Our Lady of the Presentation parish track and field games at Boston have been selected by Joe Cristo, Lowell's mighty but modest Marathon marvel, as the occasion on which he will demonstrate his superiority over the crack Marathon runners of New England. The particular race which Joe is going to win, to be more exact, which he claims he is going to win, is the ten-mile event. This race will be a pinch for our noted champion, if his plans do not miscarry. He has doped it out to complete ten miles on an eight lap track it will be necessary to circle the oval eight times, so he has calculated that before those four score laps are completed most of the other runners will become dizzy or light-headed and that he, not being prone to light-headedness, will win, with a dozen laps to spare. From this scheme of Joe's it can readily be seen that our Lowell champion uses his brain as well as his "number eights" in his struggle to maintain his prestige as the champion road grinder of the Flats. In fact, Mike Ryan, Clarence DeMar and Andy Soxalis, three dead ones who were foisted onto the Olympic Marathon team in preference to Joe, would come near being almost real champions were they fortunate enough to receive a course of instruction on the finer points of distance running from the famous "Joe Joe."

With his customary perseverance, Joe is training most diligently and conscientiously for this race. As has been stated, the event will require the circling of an oval eight times; so in order to fit his training to the conditions of the race, Joe is doing his "workouts" over at the Casino and during the cool of the evening. There, he asserts, can be found plenty of space and plenty of lively pacemakers. The circuit of the hall is about the same distance as that of the Boston track; the air is invigorating; the music is inspiring; and the demure glances of his many fair admirers is stimulating to a wonderful degree. With dozens and dozens of these brown and blue and gray and pink eyes following his every movement, Joe feels super-charged with a preternatural abundance of strength; his feet circle the hall with Mercury-like lightness and agility; his one wish is that those eighty laps could be run under such entrancing conditions and surroundings as prevail at the Casino. The efficacy of music and the helpful influence of varied pacemakers as an adjunct to athletic training need no better demonstration than the noticeable effect these training innovations have wrought in the improved physical condition of "Joe Joe." To use a sporting phrase, he is now "as fit as a fiddle." What other sporting phrase will be properly applied to him, rests on the outcome of his eighty circuits at Boston today.

Joe Wood of Boston Americans One of the Greatest of Pitchers

American league baseball experts in Boston claim Joe Wood of the Red Sox is the equal of any pitcher in the junior diamond organization. They point with pride to the fact that "Red Sox" has been twisting a consistently classy article of ball for the last three seasons and has won a majority of his games. The critics also add that if Wood had the powerful build of Walter Johnson he would be the talk of the baseball world. Out of the first sixteen games he participated in this year he won thirteen. Wood has excellent control, a fine change of pace and is as cool as an iceberg in the pinches.

CHANGE FOR GIRL TO GET HUSBAND

Western Man Would Wed Eastern Girl

Say, girls, if you like a western man with athletic figure and a fellow who has no bad habits, such as drinking, walking in his sleep, chewing gum, shooting crap, dickering in baseball pools, playing whist, poker or rummy, for money; a fellow who keeps his own side of the street and tells the time by his own watch; a man who has an excuse for living and who is sport enough to pay five cents to see an earthquake, just take a slant at this "little note" received by Mayor O'Donnell yesterday. The young westerner doesn't spar for an opening in the usual way, but starts in thusly:

Young man, 25 years of age, desires to correspond with eastern girls, who are matrimonially inclined. Height 5 feet, 10; weight, 125; hair brown; eyes, dark blue; complexion light, features regular; have erect, athletic figure, and a western man, have not any bad habits, do not use tobacco, liquor or gambling; transient preferred. Any letters written to me will be respected and held in the strictest confidence and returned any time at the sender's wish. Address Norman Elberfeld, Butte, Montana, General Delivery.

A LINEN SHOWER

Miss Daisy Linnehan was Thursday tendered a linen shower by her many friends, the affair being held at the home of Mrs. Leo Gendron, mother of the young man who is to wed Miss Linnehan. Mr. Arthur Gendron. There were many young people present and a very enjoyable evening was spent. A musical and literary program was rendered and refreshments were served. The party broke up at a late hour, the guests extending their best wishes to their hosts.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Industry council, Royal Arcanum, in Odd Fellows hall in Middlesex street, was largely attended. There was a good attendance and two candidates were initiated. One of the most important matters brought to the attention of the council was the report of the membership committee which was very favorable.

Court Wamesit

The members of Court Wamesit, Foresters of America, met last night in Pierim hall in Palmer street. There was a large attendance and considerable business was transacted. Two applications for membership were received and one candidate was initiated. The election of officers for the ensuing term was as follows: Chief ranger, Henry J. Draper; sub chief ranger, William A. Kelley; recording secretary, James White; senior woodward, James Gill; junior woodward, George White; senior headle, John J. Phelps; junior headle, James Farrell; lecturer, William A. Brinkley.

Foresters of America

Court Gen. Dilson held its regular meeting last evening in Crafts hall, and there was a large attendance of its members. The principal business was the election of officers for the next term. The result was as follows: C. R., Dennis J. Murphy; S. C. R., Peter Quinn; R. S., Wm. Hartley; S. B. and J. B., Bros. Lorain and Baker; Sr. and Jr. W., Bros. Mulligan and Monahan; Bro. Morrison elected trustee. Arrangements are under way for a class initiation to take place in the early fall.

The Red Men

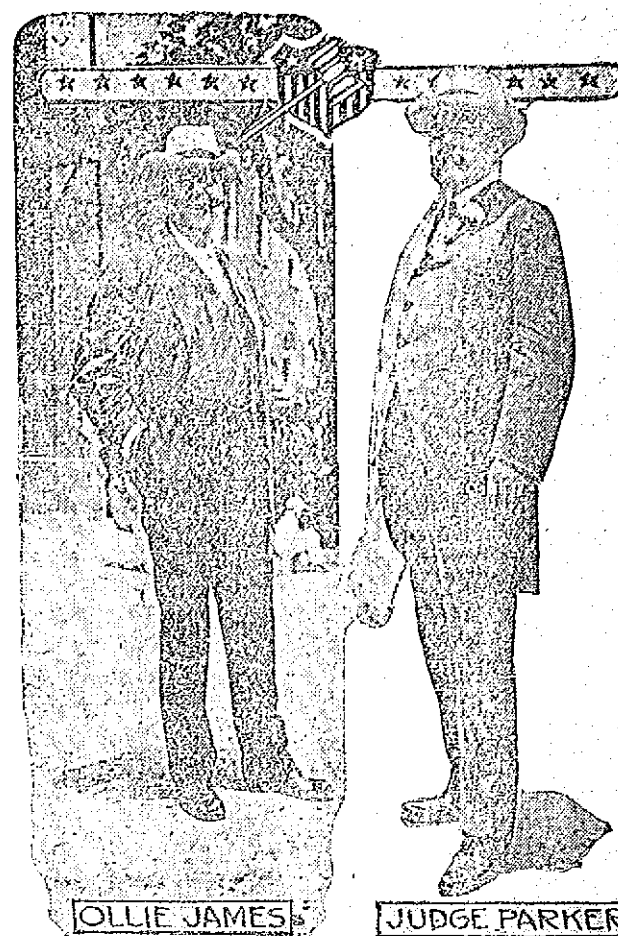

The regular meeting of Passaconaway tribe of Red Men was held last night and as is usual there was a large attendance. Sackson Edmond Whitney presided and the feature of the evening was the election of officers, which resulted as follows: Prophet, Edmond Whitney; sachem, George D. Ryan; senior sagamore, Daniel E. Starkey; junior sagamore, Thomas W. Sellers; great representatives to the Great Council of Massachusetts convention to be held in New Bedford, George A. Frost, Charles J. Martin, George Houle, Edmund Crumpton, Charles H. Kittredge; alternates, Leonard T. Moody, George O. Spaulding, William B. Pett.

BALTIMORE, June 29.—Here are the men who were members of the resolutions committee of the democratic convention: 1, Thomas J. Walsh, secretary of the committee; 2, William J. Bryan; 3, Governor Foss of Massachusetts; 4, Senator O'Gorman of New York; 5, Senator Allen Pomeroy of Ohio.

BALTIMORE, June 29.—Mrs. Wilkeson in watching the 500 or more men Howard Taft came up from newspaper men in action just beneath Washington to attend the democratic national convention. She and her friends occupied seats in the box reserved for Chairman Norman E. Mack of the democratic national committee. Mrs. Taft seemed to be mostly interested in watching the Mack box. She smiled and then looked on in animated whispering as Senator Elihu James brought out and after all when he had got his speech in his speech as permanent chairman, Theodore Roosevelt says Mr. Taft is a friend of the trusts, and Mr. Taft says Theodore Roosevelt is a friend of the trusts, and I believe both told the truth," shouted Mr. James, who was almost within arm's length of Mrs. Taft. She laughed heartily at that and Mrs. Taft led the handclapping among her party at the close of the permanent chairman's speech.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

THE DEADLOCKED CONVENTION

The democratic convention at Baltimore seems to be in a deadlock as the twelve ballots taken last night would indicate. Clark is in the lead, but he still lacks a considerable number of the two-thirds vote necessary for a choice. The leading event of the balloting was the change of the New York delegation to Clark. This caused a wild demonstration for Clark and a counter demonstration for Wilson. Clark and Wilson are the only two men in the contest thus far, although Underwood is holding his 123 votes quite firmly. It is evident that a break must come somewhere, and there is a general sentiment that but for the personal feeling thrown into the convention at the early stage by Mr. Bryan the New York delegation would have swung over to Wilson instead of to Clark. The same was said of the Harmon delegates. As the vote stood last night, if Underwood should turn to Clark the latter would get the nomination, while if he turned to Wilson the added force would fall short of the necessary two-thirds. It is quite probable, however, that should Underwood turn to Wilson there would be enough Clark delegates ready to assist in giving the New Jersey candidate the nomination. The Massachusetts delegation stood firmly by Clark, but as a result of the deadlock it may turn to Governor Foss as a candidate for the presidency. There may be other strong men brought to the front whose names have not yet appeared in the balloting.

THE NEW YORK SUN

The New York Sun is out telling the democrats that only ruin can come to democratic prospects from the nomination of a man so radical as Wilson on a platform drawn by William Jennings Bryan.

That is an indication that the Sun fears Wilson. It knows that with Taft between the progressive democracy and the bull-moose party of Theodore Roosevelt, he will have slight chance of election.

The New York Sun, like other rank republican sheets, is much disappointed at the steadiness with which the democratic convention proceeded on its way without any conflict or scrap to spread dissension among the delegates. The spirit of harmony shown by the delegates and the willingness to submit to majority rule are so diametrically opposite to the state of affairs that prevailed at Chicago that the standpat republicans are green with envy. It is useless for them to worry because the democratic ticket will sweep the field, and the republican party split in twain will be driven from power while a good progressive democrat will assume control of the government.

THE CALAMITY BROODER

Nobody objects to fair criticism that may lead to improvement of conditions, but every friend of Lowell does or should object to the continued whine of the croaker who sees only the bad and who to gratify his censorious nature makes it much worse. Lowell has suffered in the past from sensationalism, not only from the yellow journals but sensationalism in the pulpit, the place where such an evil might be least expected and where it is calculated to do the greatest harm.

The chronic growler is the pest of any city, whether he sends forth his tirades from the newspaper office, the pulpit or the platform. When the pessimist undertakes the role of reformer he seeps everything through smoked glasses and wants to convince everybody that things are going to the dogs. The trouble lies in his imagination if not in his soured nature or his digestive functions. One such public man in a city is like an ominous cloud that shuts out the light of the sun, but Lowell is not going to submit to any such calamity brooder.

MORE SMOOTH PAVING

The owners of automobiles in Lowell, as in other cities, suffer a great deal of discomfort if not injury from riding on rough streets. Of course we cannot as yet afford to have all our streets smooth paved, but on account of the great increase in the number of automobiles it is very desirable that we should increase the number of our smooth paved streets as quickly as possible. The granite block paving is good, being smooth and at the same time durable, but the cobblestone surface, such for example as back Central and Church streets, is the dread of autoists. The elevated crossings with a hollow on either side is also one of the things which jounce the autoists, often wrenching axles so that speedy repairs are necessary. The smooth paving on Pleasant street has worn well and is as good as any outlying street requires.

WORSE THAN CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Capital punishment is not nearly so bad as the sentence meted out to Baron Vincenzo Paterno on the charge of murdering his mistress, Princess Trigona, at Rome in March of 1911. He has been convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for life, the first ten years to be in solitary confinement. The sentence is regarded as of unprecedented severity, as such confinement in an Italian prison means insanity or a lingering death, if not hastened by suicide. Bresci, who killed King Humbert, got the solitary confinement term and went insane in a few years. The Italian prisons on this point are regarded as living tombs.

FOR THE FOURTH

We are getting ready a quiet little celebration of the Fourth on our own account. It will be free from danger and excitement but enjoyable nevertheless. We shall have band concerts and an entertainment for children with the reading of the Declaration of Independence and a short patriotic speech by some orator of ability. That would be getting back to the old-time custom of a real patriotic and sensible celebration.

COST OF LIVING

The republican party has steadily opposed any reduction in the tariff that would reduce the price of food, yet in its platform it promises to take the necessary steps to remove undue or artificial increase in the price of food. It had sixteen years in which to do this but opposed every move in that direction. The democratic party will now attend to that important question.

Some Lowell man should be appointed to the commission to take charge of Salisbury state reservation. Lowell having to pay her share of the deficit in the outlay should be represented on the commission.

The Roosevelt party is fast shrinking into nothingness. In a few weeks there will be nothing left of it but a shouting Colonel who would make a first-rate attraction for a wild west show.

SEEN AND HEARD

Patrolman Arthur Drenett, the clever second baseman of the Lowell police team, has decided to retire from baseball until he recovers his beautiful gold ring which he lost recently.

"I was running out a timber tract in the wilds of Maine one time," said a New York surveyor, "and my tramp had taken me into the depth of the wilderness ten miles from camp. The camp was 100 miles from the nearest railroad station. Presently, to my surprise, I heard the sound of an axe, I followed the sound and found a busy woodman at work. He had cleared the timber away for a few rods about, and on that space had put up a snug log cabin. All the rest, on every side, was the profound, almost untrodden wilderness. The man stopped his work and greeted me pleasantly.

"And where did you come from?" he asked.

"I told him I had come from New York."

"Have there?" said he.

"I replied that I lived there. He gazed at me as if amazed, and by and by said: 'Well, well! Gosh! I don't see how you can bear to live so far away.'"

"And as I came away I could almost feel his look of pity for me in my isolated New York domicile."

LOVE AFFAIRS OF AN OFFICE BOY

I'd like to own an island in the sea.

And have a palace there and be the King.

With forty slaves or so to always bring

Me everything I'd want, and her and me

Would be the only white folks there, and she

Would be the Queen and never have a thing

To do but make me glad, and birds would sing

As sweetly as they could from every tree.

We'd have a hammock fixed up in the shade,

And slaves would fan her when the days were hot.

And we would never have to be afraid

We'd lose our jobs, and never have a thought

About the trouble other people made.

Or have to work when we would rather not.

If I could be the king of such a place

I'd make the slaves hunt pearls along the shore

Till they'd have bushels of them—

mebby more.

And I would keep her dressed in silk and lace.

And we'd forget the poor old human race

And all the troubles that we'd had before;

I'd make her love me so that she'd be sore

Unless my cheek was pressed against her face.

But, gee, there's no use thinkin' thoughts like that!

She thinks I'm nothin' but a kid, I s'pose.

And every time I pass near where she's at

I tremble from my head down to my toes;

I'd like to give her cheek a little pat

And wipe away the streak that's on her nose.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The Rosary," the presentation by The Harvard Stock company at the Merrimack Square Theatre for the first three days of next week, is a play that has proved one of the most popular dramas of years. In it Mr. Grady, Miss Valaire, Mr. Stevens, and the other members of the cast are seen to excellent advantage and should serve to make them more popular than ever before with the patrons. The play tells the story of happenings that are gone over in everyday life of the present. Its characters are as true to life as it's possible to make them and the interesting incidents which develop combine in making it sweet and wholesome entertainment for all. Father Kelly is one of the strongest characters in the play, and it is so drawn that the question of sectarianism is not in any way involved. The other parts are also capably portrayed. In connection with the presentation will be shown a new and most enjoyable series of photo-plays, including the biggest and best productions by the leading manufacturers of films of this and foreign countries. Illustrated songs by Miss Alice Bagley will also add to the general excellence of the bill.

For the last three days of the week the attraction by The Harvard Stock company will be "St. Ethno," a play that is well known to a majority of the theatregoers. The play has many interesting scenes and the story which it unfolds is the kind that holds the attention of all from first to last. It should prove one of the most interesting of the series to be given by this popular organization. The photo-plays for the last three days of the week will also be new and the kind that meet the tastes of all. The illustrated songs by Miss Alice Bagley will be the latest and best of their kind.

Four Prominent Democrats at National Convention in Baltimore

PHOTOS COPYRIGHT 1912 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Remember that this playhouse is the original "wood spot," where patrons will find the temperature normal at all times. If it's warm and disagreeable on the outside visit this theatre and enjoy yourself. Others are doing it.

The sacred concerts Sunday afternoon and evening will include the best of vaudeville and photo-plays.

THE KASINO

Have you made your plans for tonight? Up on Thornhill street 517, bracing breezes blow through the spacious Kasino almost continuously and as the miniature gale wafts comfort, you may enjoy an orchestral concert, or you may glide gracefully along the smoothest floor in New England. The conductor will let you off almost at the Kasino door. Dancing sessions are held afternoon and evening.

THEATRE VOYONS

Tonight affords the last chance to see the excellent program at the Theatre Voyons that has been making such an impression during the past few days.

"The Runaways," a London comedy is a clever, well acted farce of the adventures of a couple of young folks who are having their first spat after marriage. "The Passerby," an Edison dramatic subject, has a novel story and is finely acted. Tomorrow the usual excellent Sunday concent will be given and all feature pictures and musical numbers will be presented.

CONCERTS AT LAKEVIEW

Two concerts will be given at Lakeview park Sunday afternoon and evening by the City band of this city. B. F. Tabor, director. The following are the programs:

LAKEVIEW PARK

The large crowds of pleasure seekers who have been going to Lakeview Park this season in increasing numbers will find plenty to interest them next week.

Commencing Sunday there will be band concerts afternoon and evening. Starting Sunday evening, July 7th, there will be sacred concerts at the theatre.

Every afternoon and evening during the week J. W. Gorman's players will present a snappy musical show entitled "A Bunch of Keys."

On Tuesday evening there will be another free pyrotechnical exhibition when "The Spouting Geysers of the Yellowstone" and other spectacular Italian fireworks features will be given. The program will be completely changed and some very beautiful and surprising effects are promised.

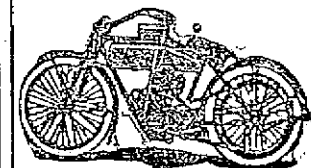

ST. ANTHONY'S CHURCH

At St. Anthony's church, Central street, tomorrow, the feast of St. Peter and St. Paul, masses will be celebrated at 8, 9 and 10.30 o'clock, the latter a high mass, and a sermon will be preached. In the evening at 7 o'clock there will be vespers, conclusion of devotions to the Sacred Heart and benediction. A plenary indulgence will be granted those who go to confession and receive communion.

The Convention In a Wild Up roar

Fifteen Ballots Without a Choice--Bryan Against Any Man N. Y. Supports

PROLONGED STRUGGLE IN SIGHT--THE CONVENTION MAY GO INTO NEXT WEEK

BALTIMORE, June 29.—The democratic national convention was again in session today trying to break the deadlock on the nomination of a presidential candidate. Immediately after convening the 15th ballot was taken. It seemed to be generally accepted that a choice, under the two-thirds vote, was a long way off and that the convention might go over to next week.

It was reported that Chairman James during the day might from the platform advocate the abrogation of this rule. Senator Lora, floor leader of the progressives, asserted that a nomination would mean nothing unless made by two-thirds of the delegates as it would require a two-thirds vote to suspend the rules to permit a majority nomination and Chairman James when asked about the report said he had talked about the line indicated but that he felt sure a nomination would be given to Clark in view of the majority vote received by him. He said that if Wilson or any other man should at some time receive a majority and fail of nomination then it might be necessary to change the rules and that the convention had the power to do so.

Chairman James called the convention to order at 1:05. The chaplain, the Rev. Dr. Russell Stratton of Baltimore, then said the prayer.

The hall was in confusion but order was finally secured at 1:15 and for the 15th time the clerk began the calling of the roll.

Gossip about the floor was that the popular prejudice against the 15th roll call would prevent any material change in the vote on that ballot. It was said that the "unlucky Friday" superstition last night prevented shifts that might have made a nomination possible.

The roll call began with the same monotonous repetition that marked last night's voting. When Connecticut was reached Wilson lost one vote to Underwood. The rumor of the shift in the vote of the Nebraska delegation did not materialize on this ballot, the record remaining Clark 13, Wilson 3.

There had been some question as to whether New York would cast its 50 votes for Clark but Charles E. Murray reached his usual announcement of 90 for Clark again and it was apparent that there would be no nomination.

North Carolina gave Wilson one from the Underwood column. Wilson also took two from Clark in Ohio. In Tennessee Clark gained six votes, Wilson gained 73; the 73 were lost by Underwood. In Alaska Clark gained one from Wilson. Hawaii gave Clark a gain of one from Wilson.

Porto Rico voted six solid for Wilson, a loss of two votes for Clark.

Hours: 9:30 to 3:30

Saturday: 9:30 to 12:30, 7 to 9 P. M.

The result of the 15th ballot was: Clark, 33; Wilson, 35½; Underwood, 115½; Harmon, 29; Marshall, 19; Foss, 2; Bryan, 1.

This showed a gain of five for Clark, Wilson gained 2½ and Underwood lost 7½. Foss was put on the roll with two votes.

Kern received no votes and Bryan was given one.

Before the result of the 15th ballot was announced W. J. Bryan appeared on the platform. He talked to Chairman James for a moment and then resumed his seat in the Nebraska section.

A cheer swept the hall from the time he left his seat until he returned to it. At 1:40 the roll call was begun for the 15th time.

During the 14th ballot Chairman James surrendered the gavel to William Sulzer of New York and went to the floor. He conferred with Senator Stone of the Clark forces and then hurried about visiting the various delegations.

Convention in Up roar

Mr. Bryan entered the hall shortly after the reading of the roll call and in an impassioned speech declared that he would not vote for Clark while the New York delegation supported that candidate.

The convention was in an uproar. Senator Stone shouted above the din, pleading to the delegates and galleries to listen to Bryan.

Bryan remained mounted on his chair. Senator Stone made his way to the platform to ask for time for Mr. Bryan to explain his vote. Above the din a motion granting unanimous consent to Bryan to speak was declared, and the convention proceeded to the platform while cheers and shouts of derision mingled.

Great confusion arose as Bryan motioned for quietness.

He spoke deliberately, explaining in detail his vote and an impressive silence.

Bryan read from a prepared statement. He said that Nebraska had always been a progressive state.

In this convention, he said, the progressive sentiment was overwhelming and no candidate would have a chance if known to be a conservative.

The resolution adopted against any candidate subversive to Morgan, Bryan and Belmont showed the desires of the convention, Mr. Bryan said.

The vote of New York represented the wishes of one man, Charles E. Murray, declared Bryan and he represented the same interests that sought to dominate the Chicago convention.

He and his associates of the Nebraska delegation, he said, were unwilling to accept the name of any man who was receiving the benefit of Mr. Murphy's leadership.

Shouts of approval constantly interrupted Bryan with occasional parliamentary protests but he pushed on. "I shall not be party," declared Bryan, "to the nomination of any man who will not be absolutely free to carry out the anti-Morgan-Ryan-Belmont resolution and make his administration reflect government of, for and by the people. I shall withhold my vote from Mr. Clark as long as New York votes for him."

Fourteenth Ballot

The official vote of the 14th ballot was: Clark, 33; Wilson, 35½; Underwood, 115½; Harmon, 29; Marshall, 19; Foss, 2; Kern, 2.

and not be handicapped by a national committee on which the "interests" were represented.

Bryan's sensational move interrupted the 14th ballot; it created a great deal of feeling and seemed in the opinion of most of the leaders to finally dispose of the Nebraska as a possible candidate.

The antagonism to him was intense. Continued to page nine

Only One Holiday Next Week

It was reported in the street today that when the mills close on Thursday, Independence day, they would remain closed for the week, but the report doesn't seem to have been a very authentic one, though at two of the mills it was stated that they had not decided as to whether they would close for the day only or for the remainder of the week. A majority of the mills, however, will close only for the day. Some of the mills are rushed with orders and they are not turning out the goods as quickly as before the strike because of the fact that they are short on what they call their good help. They are trying by every means to get their old help back but in other manufacturing cities the opinion seems to hold that the sea of labor continues rough in this city. The fact remains, however, that everything is very peaceful here now and the operatives seem to be well satisfied. The mill men still maintain that the margin of profit on their goods is so low as to be almost too small to mention, but they hope for better times in the very near future.

In most of the mills notices relative to the Massachusetts Workingmen's Compensation law have been posted. The notice is to the employees and reads, in part, as follows:

As required by chap. 151, Acts of 1911, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and amendments thereto, entitled "An act relative to payment to employees for personal injuries received in the course of their employment, and the prevention of such injuries."

This will give you notice that we have provided for payment to our injured employees under the above act by insuring with

E. M. F. "BULLET" CAR

The celebrated E. M. F. "Bullet," a car which has traversed the country on several occasions and also did stunts on various race courses, arrived in this city yesterday and was piloted by Joseph Le Boeuf, the well known race driver, who is now on his way to Old Orchard beach, where he intends to compete in the races to be held on the sands on July 4, 5 and 6.

Despite the fact that the machine bears the number "23" the car is in the pink of condition. It is of the 1900 make and made the trip from Montreal to Boston yesterday, a distance of 365 miles, in 12 hours.

TO BUILD NEW STABLE FOR HEALTH DEPARTMENT

People of Lundberg Street Ask That the Thoroughfare be Repaired

At a conference held at the mayor's office in city hall yesterday afternoon it was decided to build the new board of health stable in the middle of the board's yard in Broadway. There were present at the conference, the mayor, Commissioner Cummings, City Solicitor Hennessy, Agent Bates of the board of health, Mr. Garvey of the board of health and Francis Connor, inspector of buildings.

The sum of $35,000 has been appropriated for a new stable and it is generally conceded that a stable is badly needed. The old board of health stable is unsafe and, as a matter of fact, a disgrace to the city. The new stable will be of brick, 210 by 40 feet, or perhaps a little wider. The basement will be used for the storage of wagons and the first story will provide accommodations for 48 horses, and will have a carriage room, blacksmith and carpenter shops and office. The second story will be used for a hay loft and the storage of lumber, harness, etc.

The Cemetery Hay Crop

Commissioner Cummings states that he has taken enough hay from the Edison cemetery grounds to last the cemetery department for at least one year and in addition to this two tons were cut on the Old English cemetery for the charity department.

Street in Bad Shape

Residents of Lundberg street have spoken to Commissioner Cummings relative to the condition of that street and have asked to have the street repaired, a matter that will be called to the attention of the commissioner on streets and highways. Lundberg street has been badly chopped up by the heavy circus wagons going back and forth from the cars to the fair grounds.

In fairness to yourself we are going to ask that you take your husband into your kitchen and ask him to remain there while you prepare dinner.

After he has cooled off and eaten the dinner, ask him what he thinks about buying a GAS RANGE—one that heats the food, not the room.

He will no doubt insist upon you buying a gas range at once, and if you will bring him to our store the next day, we will show you how easy it is to secure a gas range, and furthermore after the range is installed, we will send one of our expert demonstrators to show you how to use it economically.

If it is not convenient to call, telephone 349, and our representative will call upon you any day or evening you will say.

FOREIGNER CAUGHT BY WIRETAPPERS

Get $350 and Return a $15,000 Check

NEW YORK, June 28.—There was one man on the Adriatic when she left at noon Thursday who was in a hurry to get away from New York, and it was not because of his name either. It is W. H. Speedy, and he came from New Zealand.

Mr. Speedy got here on Monday, intending to look us over briefly, and then sail for the old home in England. But the prevailing fashion of welcoming the stranger practiced by members of an entertainment committee was meted out to the Antipodean, so when he called he was out just $350 in cash and much of the faith in human nature, which was one of his assets when he struck New York.

And Mr. Speedy got off cheaply. Had he not credited some of his troubles to a hotel clerk he would have stood a chance of losing $15,000 more. "I would like to get your assistance in collecting some money," said the New Zealander. It is a matter of $20,000. It was promised to me this morning, but though I have telephoned I have been unable to get the money. You see, I won it on a horse race.

Then he told how he had met an "affable man," who also met a friend, who had "advanced information" on the races. They went together to a poolroom and Mr. Speedy happened to bet $15,000, giving a check. Then he was told that his horse had won. He continued:

"The cashier said the bank was closed and the sum was so large that he would have to have time to make some investigation. I lost $350 cash I had in my pocket. Now the $20,000 that is due me has not come, and I should like to collect it as soon as possible."

With the clerk's aid, Mr. Speedy finally succeeded in getting the check returned.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM IS A NEW DOCUMENT

It is Bristling With Progressivism
—Utmost Harmony at Meetings of the Committee

BALTIMORE, June 28.—Bristling with democratic progressivism, the platform on which the democratic party will stand during the approaching campaign was completed late yesterday and awaits only the approval of the presidential nominee to be presented to the convention.

The document is the result of 48 hours' deliberation on the part of the committee. It is an almost entirely new document, though the recommendations of the New York delegation were followed in many particulars.

From first to last the committee's deliberations were characterized by the utmost harmony. The unanimous demand was for the most pronounced declaration in favor of progressive policies all along the line, and the only difference of opinion arose over the best method of expressing this tendency. The result is a platform of generally advanced views, although many of them are less radical than the party declarations of other years.

Comprehensive, Progressive

The document covers every subject of importance which has been the subject of party discussion during the last four years. None of them is elaborately presented, but the large number of subjects renders it somewhat voluminous.

The members of the committee express general satisfaction with the outcome of their vote, and Mr. Bryson, who took a most active part in framing the paper, made the prediction that it would arouse the disapproval of not more than a dozen members of the convention.

Under the new rule adopted the platform will not be presented to the convention until after the nomination of the candidates. Its submission will follow the election of a vice-presidential candidate.

Platform Plank
The platform reaffirms the party's devotion to the principles of democratic government as formulated by Jefferson.

Declines for a tariff for revenue only and denounces "the high republican tariff as the principal cause of the unequal distribution of wealth."

Favors immediate downward revision of present duties, especially upon necessities of life. Also favors gradual reduction so as not to interfere with or destroy legitimate industries.

Denounces President Taft for vetoing tariff bills of last congress. Condemns republican party "for failure to redeem its promise of 1908 for downward revision."

Takes issue with the republican platform as to the high cost of living, contending it is largely due to high tariff laws.

For Criminal Trust Prosecution

Favors vigorous enforcement of the criminal features of anti-trust law. Demands such additional legislation as may be necessary to crush private monopoly. Favors prohibition of both the economic, including directors, stock watering, etc. Condemns republican administration for "compromising with Standard Oil company and Tobacco Trust."

Denounces as "usurpation" the efforts of republicans to deprive states of their rights and to enlarge powers of the federal government. "There is," says the platform, "no twilight zone between the nation and the state in which exploiting interests can take refuge from both."

Urges people to support proposed constitutional amendments, pending in various state legislatures, providing for an income tax and election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

One Term for President

As justification of the demands of the party for publicity of campaign expenditures, attention is directed "to the enormous expenditure of money in behalf of the president and his professor in the recent presidential contest."

Declares for presidential preference primaries. Directs national committee to provide for selection at primaries of members of national committee.

Pledges party to enactment of law prohibiting campaign contributions by corporations and unscrupulous campaign contributions by individuals.

Favors single presidential term and making president ineligible to re-election.

Aldrich Bill Denounced

Felicitates democratic congress on its record, enumerating important achievements, and pledges an adequate navy.

In connection with a demand for such a revision of the banking laws as will give temporary relief in case of financial distress, there is a denunciation of the Aldrich bill prepared by the monetary commission. The present method of depositing government funds is condemned and the party is pledged to the enactment of a law for the deposit of such funds by competitive bidding in state or national banks without discrimination as to locality.

Favors Rural Credits
Recommends investigation of agricultural credit societies in Europe to ascertain whether a system of rural credits may be devised suitable to conditions in the United States.

Pledges party to enactment of legislation to prevent destruction of lower Mississippi valley by floods and control of the Mississippi is declared to be a national rather than a state problem. The maintenance of a navigable channel is also recommended.

Favors national aid regarding post roads.

Repeats the party's declaration of the platform of 1908 as to the rights of labor and pledges the party to an employees' compensation law.

Declares the unnecessary withdrawal of public land tends to retard development and bring reproach upon policy of conservation; that reservations should be limited to purposes which they purport to serve; favors broadest liberality in administering land laws and says forest reserve act permitting homestead entries within the national forest should not be nullified by administrative regulations; declares for immediate action to make available Alaskan coal lands and safeguarding of lives of miners.

Public Health, Pure Food
Favors encouragement of agriculture and legislation to suppress gambling in agricultural products.

Believes in fostering growth of a merchant marine and urges speedy enactment of laws for greater security of life and property at sea.

Reaffirms previous declarations regarding pure food and public health.

Favors reorganization of the Civil service and says laws should be honestly and rigidly enforced.

Recommends law reform legislation.

Reaffirms position against "policy of imperialism and colonial exploitation" in Philippines.

Welcomes Arizona and New Mexico to sisterhood of states. Demands for Alaska full enjoyment of rights and privileges of territorial form of government.

Refers to Russian treaty and renews pledge to preserve "sacred rights of American citizenship at home and abroad."

People Must Rule
Favors parcels post and extension of rural delivery.

Favors encouragement such as can be properly given Panama canal expedition.

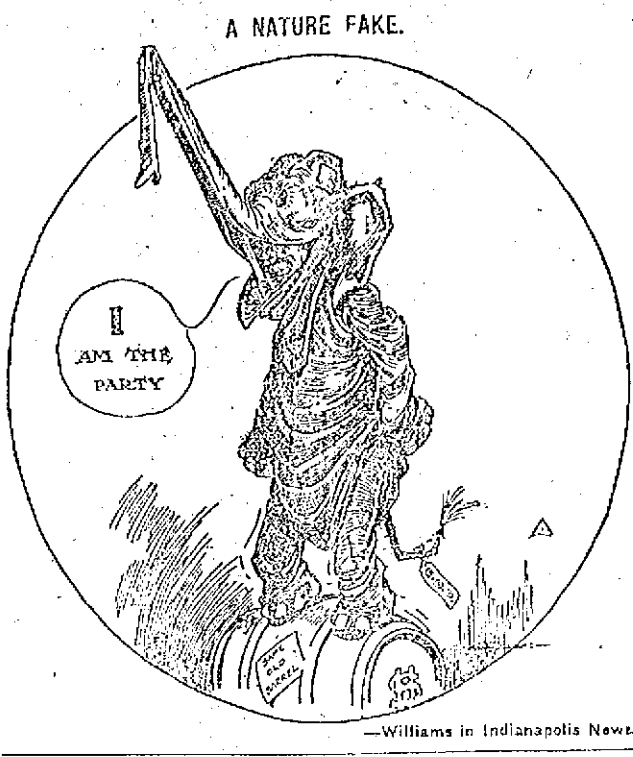

Commends to the states adoption of law making it an offense to discriminate against the uniform of the United States.

Renews declaration of last platform regarding generous pension policy.

Refers to the rule of the people, and says: "The democratic party offers itself to the country as an agency through which the complete overthrow and extinction of corruption, fraud and machine rule in American politics can be effected."

The conclusion of the platform says: "Our platform is one of principles which we believe to be essential to our national welfare, and invites co-operation of all citizens who believe in maintaining unimpaired the institutions and traditions of our country."

The Saturday after the Fourth is "National Quarter Day" at The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

MEN WERE BURIED ALIVE

Several of Them Were Badly Injured

BOSTON, June 28.—Six tons of boulders and earth tumbled and buried two workmen in the cellar of the new Comique theatre at Federal and Washington streets, Salem, yesterday afternoon. Scores of other workers hurriedly rescued them. They were only bruised.

Thomas J. Fremont of 17 Lenox street and Albert J. Douglas of 32 Mall street, Salem, were working in the cellar in a busy squad. Above them was a 15-foot wall of earth, topped with large stones, formerly in the foundations of buildings which were moved to make room for the new building.

Without warning the wall gave in. The two men disappeared. A shovel squad became busy and soon the heads of the imprisoned men were freed to the air. Douglas was dug wholly out in a few minutes.

But it was a hard task to get Fremont out. A two-ton foundation stone was over him, apparently upon his chest. The dirt was dug out carefully, and it became apparent that the stone was suspended by two smaller ones, so that it was a fraction of an inch from crushing the man.

A tackle had to be rigged. Timber joists shoved into place as props and great care had to be taken before the rescuers dared to move the big stone. Some finally rolled it off, as others dragged Fremont from under it. The two men were taken to the Salem hospital. Neither had a broken bone, though they were badly bruised.

FINE RECITAL

GIVEN BY PUPILS OF CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

A delightful musical recital was held at Colonial hall by the pupils of the Lowell Conservatory of Music, ably assisted by the faculty. The event was the 31st annual and was very largely attended. The program was all that could be desired and was rendered in an artistic manner. The following were awarded diplomas which were presented by the director of the conservatory, Mr. George A. Willey: Miss Ellen Frances Christian and Miss Bernice Gertrude Knight.

The pupils of the conservatory are as follows: Agnes Pollard, Grace Sullivan, Margaret Carmody, Catherine Jones, Helen Jones, Sylvester Corcoran, Ella Larkin, Harriet Owens, Bernice Trudeau, Mrs. Ethel Lundgren, Christina Connell, Florence Elmer, Marjorie Davis, Daniel R. Haggart.

MANCHESTER MAN LEARNED THAT WIFE HAD LEFT HIM

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 28.—Arthur Fisher, aged 39, an employee of J. Porter of Manchester Center, on arriving home last night found a letter from his wife saying that she had decided to leave him, and take her daughter with her.

Fisher at once loaded a revolver and shot himself through the temple, death being instantaneous. The young man came to Manchester from New York several years ago, and aside from his family is not known to have any survivors. He has a divorced wife and two children. The daughter who went away with his second wife was not his.

WORK OF INDIANS OF THE WEST

An Interesting Talk Was
Given by Rev. A. P.

REV. A. P. WEDGE

At the Fifth Street Baptist church last night Rev. Arthur P. Wedge, former pastor of the Worthen Street Baptist church, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the Indians of the west and the work being accomplished by them. He said that the grotesquely garbed, wild product of the west, is fast disappearing, but in his place is coming the Indian of the present, who gives every promise of becoming an honored citizen of the country, and one whom this country will justly feel proud of in the future. Mr. Wedge is at present engaged as special religious and moral instructor for United States Indians.

There are about 300,000 Indians in the United States at the present time, and instead of decreasing in numbers as many have claimed, they are increasing. The past generation has seen an increase of some 25,000 in the Indian population of the country.

The Carlisle school for Indians, and other institutions of learning, which are wholly devoted to the general uplift of the Indian, were shown, together with the results attained after a few years of training. Lone Star, Louis Tewanima and other famous Indian athletes were shown in the series of views.

In jail, appeared before Judge Pickman this morning and withdrew his appeal. Nicholas Carras charged with assault and battery on Albert Pappas was fined $7. From the testimony brought out Carras and Pappas got into a battle while at work in the Tremont & Suffolk mills and the former gave Pappas a good punishment.

William Broadbent charged with drunkenness was given a suspended sentence of five months in jail and placed on probation for six months.

German Pinault charged with being drunk was given a suspended sentence of six months in jail.

Michael Slattery entered a plea of guilty to a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Joseph Lachance but the case was placed on file on the payment of the costs of the court.

Terrence B. Guthrie was charged

POLICE COURT SESSION

Number of Cases on the Docket

This morning's session of the police court was rather brief despite the fact that there were a number of cases on the docket.

Nicholas Tamplin was who appeared before the court yesterday morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of a sewing machine and a pair of shoes and sentenced to five months with being drunk but he entered a plea of not guilty. After the officers had testified the court found the man guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $5.

In the case of Peter J. Shanley, charged with non-support of his wife, the court ordered him to pay $1.50 a week.

Frank McCluskey and Michael J. Hogan, charged with drunkenness, were each ordered to pay a fine of $5.

THE NEW WAY

TRAIN STRUCK WAGON MEN AND HORSE ESCAPED

Men Jumped to Safety, Horse Dashed and the Wagon Was Smashed

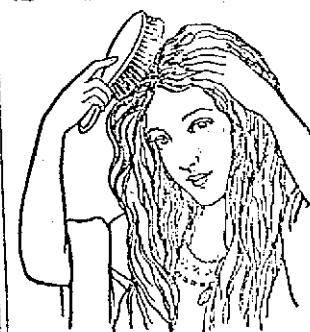

Despite the desperate efforts of John S. Cochrane, flagman at the Merrimack street crossing, to avoid a team being struck by a train about 9 o'clock this morning, his warnings were ignored, according to witnesses to the accident, and the train backed into the team, in which there were two men, and though the wagon was badly damaged the men jumped to safety and the horse was not injured.

According to Flagman Cochrane, he saw the train of about seven cars backing down towards his crossing, and as is his custom he started to flag the crossing when the first car reached the Market street crossing. He also saw the team coming down Dutton street and when it reached the corner near his shanty he signalled to the driver to stop. The latter kept on going and Mr. Cochrane said that he yelled loudly and that several people who were in the vicinity also shouted at the driver. The horse continued and just as the animal reached the crossing the train got there. The car struck the horse and wagon, breaking the shafts and the animal got across, but though Edward O'Brien, conductor on the train, gave the emergency stop motion the wagon was pushed to the other side of the street before the train was brought to a stop. The two men saved themselves by jumping.

The horse is a valuable animal and is said to be the property of the Wheelock estate. The wagon was loaded with long pipes and other iron material and some of the pipes were badly bent and the wagon itself was smashed up considerably. Mr. Cochrane said that the men in the wagon were looking at the new Y. M. C. A. building and did not see or hear him, and several others, including a driver for F. D. Munn, who was close by when the accident happened, were of the same opinion.

John S. Cochrane, the flagman at the scene of the accident, has been at that place for 27 years, and while he has witnessed many close calls, he says that this morning's accident was a mystery to him. He said: "Of all the narrow escapes that I have seen during my connection with the railroad that was the closest. Of course I am glad that nothing serious happened and am in a quandary to know why people who are warned of danger will step right into it."

CUTICURA SOAP BEST

FIRE IN WAKEFIELD CAUSED HEAVY LOSS

Several Organizations
Lost Property

WAKEFIELD, June 29.—Several organizations suffered loss in a fire early today that damaged Odd Fellows Hall in the heart of the business section. The damage will reach $12,000. Regalia and other property of the Odd Fellows, Knights of Malta, Knights of Pythias and the Masons were damaged by smoke and water.

The ground floor of the building, a three story wooden structure, is occupied by business firms and their stores suffered water damage.

$3000 DAMAGE

CAUSED BY A FIRE IN MANCHES-TER, ME.

MANCHESTER, Me., June 29.—An after-dinner smoke resulted in the burning of a fine set of farm buildings near here yesterday owned by Philip Kearns of New York. They were to have been occupied in a few days as a summer residence.

Dr. Charles L. Wakefield of Augusta, who formerly owned the place, was at work there and after eating his dinner had his usual smoke. He placed his pipe in his coat and hung it in the barn and a few minutes later resumed work in the field. He saw smoke issuing from the barn. It was blazing fiercely inside and Dr. Wakefield thinks the pipe was the cause. Neighbors removed the furniture. The buildings were valued at $3000.

NO CLEW YET

TO SLAYER OF WOMAN AT WOON-SOCKET

WOONSOCKET, R. I., June 29.—The lack of any clew for the police to follow in the mystery surrounding the murder of the woman, whose headless body was found in the Blackstone river on Tuesday, brought the investigation of the case practically to a standstill today. All the potential clews which have thus far been run down have been eliminated.

Arrangements were made today to draw the Manville pond tonight and tomorrow and thus lay bare a large part of the river from Woonsocket to Manville.

OUTINGS ENJOYED BY LOWELL PEOPLE

Two Parties Went to Re-vere Beach

Several outings and picnics were held by Lowell societies and clubs today, and during the entire day Merrimack square was crowded with people, coming to and leaving the city.

At 7.15 o'clock this morning a jambo car filled with the members of the Exeter club, a popular organization of young ladies, and several friends left Merrimack square for Revere beach, where they are spending the day and also a little coin, taking in the sights and attractions along the boulevard. Many of the party planned to take a dip in the surf and as the weather was ideal for a swim, needless to say many jumped in. They will return home late this evening.

First Trinitarian Church

The members of the First Trinitarian church are today enjoying an outing at Willow Dale and Lakeview. The members assembled in Merrimack square early this morning and boarded a special car at 8.30 o'clock for the picnic. They were accompanied by Rev. George F. Kenning, pastor of the church. Upon arrival at the lake a fine program was carried out, including sports and musical selections. At noon dinner was served and in the afternoon dancing at the lake to the music of Miner's orchestra was enjoyed. Others indulged in boating and all had an enjoyable time. The return home will be made this evening.

Lawrence Hosiery Girls

A number of girls from the Lawrence hosiery left Merrimack square on a special car at 1.15 o'clock this afternoon for Revere beach, where they are spending the day and many of the party plan to remain at the beach until tomorrow evening. The others will return to the Spindle City tonight.

FOUND GUILTY

OF MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE

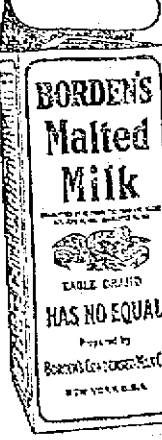

WASHINGTON, June 29.—W. H. Habens, a private soldier from Fort Meyer, who shot and killed a woman named Ada Haines here last August, was found guilty of murder in the first degree last night. Sentence was suspended pending an appeal. Habens killed the woman and attempted suicide after the pair had quarrelled.

PRES. OF HOWARD UNIVERSITY

BOSTON, June 29.—The Rev. Stephen Morrell Newman has been elected president of Howard university to succeed Dr. Wilbur D. Thirkield, who left today for New Orleans to assume his duties as Methodist Episcopal bishop at New Orleans. Dr. Newman, who is a native of Fairmount, Me., was educated at Bowdoin college and began his career as a minister at Taunton, Mass. He was pastor of the First Congregational church in this city for 20 years and later was president of the Eastern college, Front Royal, Va., and then of Keemer college for women at Ripon, Wis.

BASEMENT

12 BALLOTS WITHOUT A CHOICE— CLARK LED ON EACH ONE— HARMON IS THIRD

BALTIMORE, June 28.—The convention hall was crowded when yesterday afternoon's session was called to order by Chairman James at 4:12.

Rev. Henry M. Wharton, pastor of Brantley Baptist church of Baltimore, offered prayer as follows:

"Oh, God, Our Father, we stand here a great company of people, our hearts turned to thee in gratitude and in supplication. Thou hast blessed us with a great country and guided us unto this hour. We have reached the time in the history of this convention when of all others thy wisdom is most needed."

"The affairs of our government seem about to pass to other hands and will it please thee that they may accept the tremendous responsibility and discharge the trust that shall be given unto their hands, with sincerity and with conscientious performance of duty."

"We pray thee that thou wilt guide the councils of this hour in the selection of a candidate for the presidency of our great country and that thou wilt give to us a man who fears God, who is guided by his word and whose heart turns in sympathy to the great multitude who daily toil for their living and for those dear to their hearts."

"Will thou give us a man who will guide our ship of state out from the icebergs of greed and selfishness into the high seas of prosperity? May the clouds which have darkened our skies pass away and the mitering thunder of discontent be heard no more forever. And when our work is done, bring us home to thyself in heaven, we humbly ask in Jesus' name."

Prayer Approved

The prediction of democratic success met with approval expressed in an outburst of applause.

Chairman James at 4:15 announced that the roll call for the presidential nomination would be resumed at once. Several minutes were required to clear the floor.

Alabama was the first state called, and applause greeted the announcement from Gov. O'Neal that Alabama casts 24 votes for Oscar W. Underwood.

Wilson enthusiasts in the galleries applauded the first vote cast for their candidate, that of Delaware. The banners dropped from the balcony during the Wilson demonstration early yesterday morning, still blazoned forth their motto: "We want Wilson and Wilson all the time, no compromise."

States continued to follow the first ballot. No change occurred in the poll as the vote proceeded through the list of states, until Massachusetts was reached. Here one vote broke away from Clark, who had received the entire delegation of 35 on the first ballot, and went to Gov. Wilson.

Michigan, whose vote went to four candidates on the first ballot, asked to be passed when its name was called. A conference was in progress in the Michigan section.

Break in New Hampshire

Another break of the vote from the Clark to the Wilson standard came in the New Hampshire delegation. The speaker received seven and Wilson one on the second ballot, where he had received eight on the first.

The accession of the Wilson strength, while small, was greeted with a storm of applause from Wilson sympathizers.

A break of two delegates from Underwood came in the New Jersey delegation. Two given Underwood on the first ballot went to William Sulzer of New York on the second.

Clark and Wilson gained a vote each in Ohio, while Gov. Harmon lost one. The chance for a nomination on the second ballot vanished when the Ohio vote was cast. This brought the total opposition to Clark up above the one-third mark, making it impossible for Clark to secure the necessary two-thirds of the convention.

Eight votes went to the Wilson standard and wild cheers when Vermont switched from Gov. Baldwin of Connecticut.

Two Alaska votes for Congressman Sulzer of New York on the first ballot joined the Wilson strength on the second call.

The Michigan delegation gave two votes to Clark and one to Wilson, leaving from them the total given Gov. Harmon on the first ballot.

The full result of the second ballot was: Clark, 44½; Wilson, 32½; Underwood, 11½; Harmon, 14½; Marshall, 3½; Baldwin, 14; Sulzer, 2; Bryan, 2; not voting, 15.

Compared with the first ballot this was a gain of 6½ for Clark in gain of 1½ for Wilson; a loss of 4½ for Underwood; a loss of 7 for Harmon; a gain of 1 for Bryan; a loss of 5 for Baldwin.

Third Ballot Fruitless

The announcement of the vote from the secretary's desk was challenged by Ohio and a rebuttal gave the correct total.

Ex-Gov. Francis of Missouri had taken the place of Chairman Olin

James before the second ballot results were announced.

"There being no candidate who received two-thirds of the votes," he announced, "the clerk will again call the roll."

On the third roll-call state after state was called without a change from second ballot until Maine was reached. Here the two votes that had gone to Underwood on the first and second ballots went to Wilson, dividing the state delegation, Wilson 1½; Clark 1.

New Jersey's two "floating votes" which had been given to William Sulzer on the second ballot, went back to Underwood on the third roll-call.

The Ohio vote on the 3d ballot was challenged by several of the delegates. A poll of the delegation resulted in a gain of two for Wilson, a loss of one for Harmon and the loss of the two votes that had been cast for Clark on the second roll-call, but it was the Ohio vote again that made it impossible for any candidate to get the necessary two-thirds vote on the third ballot.

The total results were: Clark, 41½; Wilson, 35½; Underwood, 14½; Harmon, 14½; Marshall, 3½; Baldwin, 14; Bryan, 1; Kern, 1.

Clark lost 3½; Wilson gained 1½; Underwood gained 3½; Harmon lost 1½; Marshall, 3½; Baldwin, 14; Bryan, 1; Kern, 1.

"There being no choice," said acting Chairman Francis, "the secretary will again call the roll for the fourth ballot."

Bay State Pair for Underwood

Chairman James took the gavel again and the fourth roll-call started at 5:04 p. m. with the big crowd paying close attention to the vote cast.

The first change came in the Louisiana vote, where Wilson gained one from Clark. The delegation was divided evenly, 10 for each candidate.

Underwood gained two from Clark in the Massachusetts vote on this ballot.

Wilson picked up three votes in Nebraska on the fourth ballot. Clark maintained his strength of 12 votes there, Harmon losing three of the four that he had received on previous ballots. Wilson gained another vote, this time from Clark in New Hampshire.

New York's vote, which had been a center of attention on each roll-call, cast its solid block of 29 votes for Harmon, to whose standard they adhered from the first.

Ohio gave to John W. Kern on the fourth ballot the single remaining Bryan vote, Mr. Bryan dropping out of the list.

Clark gained 9½ votes in Tennessee on the fourth ballot. Underwood lost 5½ of these, and Harmon and Wilson each lost a half vote.

The total result was: Clark, 44½; Wilson, 34½; Underwood, 12½; Harmon, 13½; Marshall, 3½; Baldwin, 14; Kern, 2.

Clark gained 2½; Wilson gained 4½; Underwood lost 2½; Harmon lost 4; Marshall and Baldwin were unchanged, but Bryan lost the two votes he had on the third roll-call, Kern getting both.

Baldwin Drops Out

The fifth roll-call was begun at 6:30 o'clock.

The first break up in the "favorite son" delegates came when Connecticut was reached. Underwood got nine, Clark four and Wilson one of the 14 votes that had gone to Gov. Baldwin on the four preceding ballots.

The Connecticut change of vote was hailed from cheers by the partisans of the candidates who profited by the switch from the Connecticut candidate.

When Kansas was reached, where Clark had received the solid delegation of 20 in the preceding roll-call, the vote was challenged by J. W. Orr, a Wilson delegate.

R. J. Sheridan, a delegate-at-large, read to the convention the resolutions of the Kansas state convention, under which the delegates were bound to vote for Clark "until two-thirds believe he cannot be nominated."

The election stands 11 for Wilson, nine for Clark, said Mr. Sheridan, "and under our instructions I am bound to cast the 20 votes for Champ Clark."

Chairman Olin James ruled that "as long as two-thirds of the delegates from Kansas have not decided that Clark has no chance for the nomination, the Kansas vote must be cast for Clark 'in the eventuality.'"

"Do you want a roll of your delegation?" he asked of the Kansas delegates.

"Yes," shouted Delegate Orr, "call the roll of the delegates." The Kansas instructions authorized the delegates to vote for Wilson as second choice when it became the belief of two-thirds that Clark could not be nominated.

The roll of the delegation sustained the statements of Mr. Sheridan, that the Kansas delegates stood, Wilson 11, Clark 9. Chairman James held that the entire vote must go to Clark under the unit rule.

"With Clark leading the balloting," he said, "two-thirds do not say that he cannot win. The vote stands 11 for Wilson and 9 for Clark."

The chair directs that the instructions of the delegates in that state be carried out and the 20 votes of Kansas be cast for Champ Clark."

The ruling met with no opposition from the Wilson forces on the floor and was vigorously applauded by the adherents of Clark.

Recess After Fifth Ballot

When Maryland was called there was no response. The state was passed temporarily, while the delegation conferred over its vote.

Clark lost one vote to Wilson in New Hampshire on the fifth ballot. Clark gained two immediately afterward in New Jersey, picking up the two "floating votes" that had been cast for several different candidates. This gave Clark votes in New Jersey.

Harmon gained one in his own state, Ohio, and Clark also gained one. Wilson and Kern each lost a vote in Ohio.

The Tennessee vote, which had fluctuated widely on the preceding roll-calls, gave Gov. Harmon an increase of eight votes on the fifth ballot. Clark lost 6½; Wilson 1 and Underwood ½ vote. Harmon getting all of them.

The fifth ballot resulted as follows: Clark, 42½; Wilson, 31½; Underwood, 11½; Harmon, 14½; Marshall, 3½; and Kern 2.

The changes from the preceding ballot were: Wilson gained 1½; Underwood gained 7½; Harmon gained 5. The vote of Clark, Marshall and Kern was unchanged.

After the announcement of the result of the fifth ballot Chairman James recognized a motion to recess until 7:30 this evening. It was announced that at last night's session would be the eighth and as the tickets to the convention had only eight coupons, the final coupons would be recognized for admission for succeeding sessions.

There was a chorus of disapproval when the motion to adjourn was put, but James declared it carried. The convention adjourned at 7:15 until 7:30.

Shed Coats and Collars

A general understanding that spread throughout the city to the effect that a nomination would be made before the adjournment of last night's session, filled the galleries long before the regular hour for the calling of the convention.

The heat was worse than during Thursday night's session, and the delegates, in addition to discarding their coats, stripped off their wilted collars.

Some of the managers of the rival forces were on the floor early strengthening their lines among the delegates, and seeking to find weak spots in the lineup of their opponents.

The Wilson forces asserted confidently that the consistent gains shown by Wilson in the first five ballots indicated a strength that would gradually increase as the balloting continued.

The Clark forces, on the other hand, claimed to have enough delegates pledged to prolong the deadlock indefinitely, if Wilson's gains continued.

At 7:30 the aisles were in great confusion and the noise and the screeching of chairs tried to drown them.

At 8:40 the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." Every one in the hall rose and the confusion in the aisles increased. Many women appeared in the delegates' seats on the floor and there was much visiting back and forth among the various delegations.

Chairman James called the convention to order at 8:42. Gradually the disorder subsided and Rev. George P. Gentry of Washington offered prayer. He concluded amid applause. Grief of "Good, good!" came from the delegates, weary with the lengthy sessions.

First Evening Ballot

Chairman James announced an important correction in the result of the fifth ballot. He then admonished the galleries for hissing and applauding votes and at 9:45 directed the calling of the roll for the sixth ballot.

C. N. Malen, an Oklahoma alternate, tried to move to suspend the two-thirds rule and nominate by a majority vote. A chorus of disapproval greeted the motion and Chairman James quickly sustained a point of order against it. The roll-call then proceeded.

The roll proceeded without change or incident until Kansas was reached. The delegates and spectators held their breath, half expecting a break in Wilson's favor, following roll call yesterday which showed the Kansans 11 for Wilson and nine for Clark. But the instructions binding them to Clark nullified the effect of the delegation followed him. Kansas cast the state in line and its 20 votes were cast for Clark.

A hush of expectation settled over the hall when New York was called, but Chas. F. Murphy rose and as usual announced: "New York casts 50 votes for Harmon."

By this time it became apparent that there would be no nomination on the sixth ballot.

The result was: Clark, 44½; Wilson, 34½; Underwood, 12½; Harmon, 13½; Marshall, 3½; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1.

Compared with the fifth ballot, 1½ showed gains of two votes for Clark and three for Wilson. Underwood's vote was the highest so far polled for him. He gained 1½ over the last ballot. Harmon's vote was the lowest he had had.

Anti-Wilson Circular

Immediately the seventh ballot was ordered and the grid went on. There was no change in the vote until Connecticut was reached. After asking to be passed the vote as finally stated showed Jones of one each for Clark and Wilson and a gain of two for Underwood.

While the roll call was proceeding a circular denouncing Wilson was distributed among the delegates. A Wilson man from New Jersey objected and the distribution was ordered stopped. It took a squad of police to stop it, and for a few minutes trouble seemed imminent. But the disorder was quieted and the roll call proceeded.

In Ohio Wilson gained one, Clark gained two and Harmon lost three. The wabbling Tennessee delegation shifted again. Clark gained 3½; Wilson lost 2½; Underwood gained 1½ and Harmon lost 1½.

The result of the seventh ballot was: Clark, 43½; Wilson, 32½; Underwood, 12½; Harmon, 12½; Marshall, 3½; Bryan, 1; Kern, 1.

The changes were immaterial. Clark gained 5½; Wilson lost 1½; Underwood gained 2½; Harmon lost 5½; Marshall's 3½ were still solid and Bryan and Kern each polled the same single vote.

The chair announced no nomination and the roll call was begun for the eighth time.

James and Gaynor Score

The first change on the eighth ballot came on the vote of Michigan. Harmon lost one of his three votes from the previous roll call, the one vote going to Underwood.

Clark gained one vote from Wilson in Nebraska, the first change in the vote between the two leading candidates.

The roll call of New York was the same as before with Charles F. Murphy's monotonous "New York casts 50 for Harmon" as the focal point of the proceedings.

In North Carolina Wilson gained one from the Underwood column.

In Ohio Wilson lost one and it placed Chairman Olin James on the roll.

Tennessee made another change of its vote. Clark lost two, Underwood half a vote, Harmon gained 1½, and Mayor Gaynor of New York secured one vote, the first cast for him.

The result of the eighth ballot: Clark, 44½; Wilson, 31½; Underwood, 12½; Harmon, 12½; Marshall, 3½; Bryan, 1; Kern, 1; Gaynor, 1; James 1.

The changes from the seventh ballot were: Clark lost one, Wilson lost one, Underwood lost ½, Harmon gained ½, Gaynor and James were added to the list with one vote each.

The announcement of the vote was followed by the start of the ninth roll-call at 11:25 o'clock.

The results of the other ballots were:

Ninth Ballot—Clark, 42½; Wilson, 32½; Underwood, 12½; Harmon, 12½; Marshall, 3½; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1; Gaynor, 1; Absent, 1.

Tenth Ballot—Clark, 53½; Wilson, 32½; Underwood, 11½; Harmon, 3½; Marshall, 3½; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1.

Eleventh Ballot—Clark, 55½; Wilson, 34½; Underwood, 11½; Harmon, 2½; Marshall, 3½; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1.

Twelfth Ballot—Clark, 54½; Wilson, 35½; Underwood, 12½; Harmon, 2½; Marshall, 3½; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1; not voting, 1.

Next week is "Quarter Week" at The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

BY HIDE & LEATHER CO. MUTUAL BENEFIT ASSOCIATION

The American Hide & Leather company factory was the scene of an enthusiastic gathering on Wednesday afternoon, when about two hundred of the employees came together at 5 o'clock to organize a Mutual Benefit Association. The by-laws as adopted provide for sick benefits at the rate of $100 a week for a period not exceeding nine weeks in 12 consecutive months.

There is also a death benefit of $100, furnished through the Massachusetts Savings Bank Life Insurance System. More than 250 persons have already made application for membership.

The membership is of two classes, those under 49 years of age at the time of making application, paying 35 cents a month, and persons 50 years of age and over at the time of making application, paying 50 cents a month.

Miss Alice H. Grady, financial secretary of the Massachusetts Savings Insurance league, was present from Boston to explain the provisions relating to membership, and the sickness and death benefits. Mr. William J. Montgomery, state actuary, was also present and he spoke.

Officers were elected under the by-laws as follows:

President, George Ryan; vice president, Hollis Forrest; secretary, Fred Flaherty; treasurer, George Weston.

Executive board: Charles Riley, Philip Padreau, James Carney. These three, together with the five officers of the association, constitute an executive board of eight persons under article IV, section 1.

Investigation committee: John Burke, Edward Leneau, Cyrus Roy, John Corey, Oliver Brunell, Steibel Rellia.

The funds of the association are to be contributed to by Mr. Chas. P. Allen, vice president of the American Hide & Leather company, in the sum of $500 annually.

WESTFORD ACADEMY GRADUATION EXERCISES WERE HELD YESTERDAY

The graduation exercises of the Westford academy were held yesterday morning and seven girls and four boys received their diplomas. There was a large attendance and the affair proved to be a success. "Not to Hoist But to Share" was the class motto.

"The program opened with a selection by the Germania orchestra of Lowell, followed by prayer by Rev. David Wallace. The valedictory essay, "Socialism in Theory and Practice," was given by Herbert Halden Walkden. The three other essays given were: "The Bright Light," by Chester A. Burnham; "The Red Cross," by Evelyn C. Hamilton, and "The Hague Conference,"

PHYSICIANS PRESCRIBE IT

Physicians frequently prescribe Chelmsford Ginger Ale for convalescing patients. The high-grade Fruit Juices used only in Chelmsford Ginger Ale counteract the astringent tendency of the Ginger. This, with the exceptional purity of the water used, the extreme care taken in its preparation and bottling are the particular features which recommend it.

CHELMSFORD

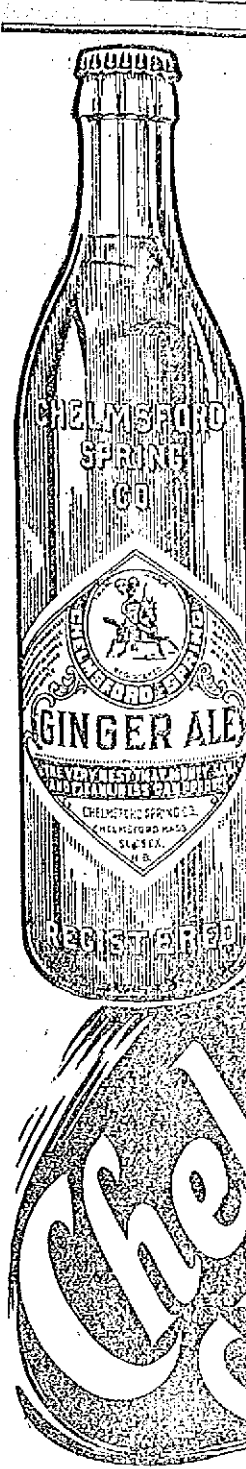

Is of the highest grade made in the United States.

Compare it with the imported.

AT YOUR GROCERS

In convenient dust proof cases of one doz. 2-glass bottles; and in one-glass bottles at places where good Ginger Ale is served.

REV. FR. MICHAEL E. DOHERTY

No. Chelmsford Clergyman Transferred to
So. Boston Parish

REV. MICHAEL E. DOHERTY

It was with sincere regret that the members of St. John's and St. Catherine's parishes learned of the transfer of Rev. Michael E. Doherty, the beloved curate of the churches for the past two years, who has been called by Cardinal William O'Connell to fill a similar position in the Church of the Holy Rosary, South Boston. In the short space of time that Fr. Doherty has been in North Chelmsford he has endeared himself to all and was loved by all who knew him. He never spared himself in any work he undertook. He took a deep interest in all the society work, having organized the sodality and Holy Name societies, and forming the Catholic club, boy cadets, the choral and Tabernacle societies and worked untiringly for the success of all. His work among the young men and women of the parish was his main object and he was also a great comfort to the sick and needy. Fr. Doherty left this morning for his new field of labor with the deepest regret of the parishioners but with their best wishes for his future success. Fr. Mitchell, the newly appointed curate, has taken up his work and will follow along the lines started by Fr. Doherty.

MOTHERHOOD SUGGESTIONS

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-Page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it to-day. Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

HEARING GRANTED TO PETITIONERS

Who Object to Signboard on Building

Parties petitioning for the removal of a big sign from the top of the Howe building in Merrimack square were given a hearing last night before Commissioner Lawrence Cummings whose department includes public property. Inspector Connors of the buildings department was present and said that the sign in question entails a weight of 75 pounds to the square foot where but 50 pounds are allowed. Mr. Cummings said that he intended to look over all the large signs in the city and the signs that he considers unsafe he says he will order down.

Present at the hearing were John H. Murphy, representing the Lowell board of trade; Walter Howe, owner of the Howe building; Albert S. Howard, representing the Hildreth association; William H. Wilson, representing the R. C. Maxwell Sign company, of Trenton, N. J.; Francis A. Connor, inspector of buildings, and City Solicitor J. Joseph Hennessy.

While Mr. Wilson objected to all kinds of signs he did not like the idea of having his client picked out as an example. Mr. Wilson said he hoped the time would come when some ordinance might be framed which would cause all objectionable signs on buildings to be removed. He cited numerous instances of them, whiskey signs, ale and beer signs, the signs, hoisting signs, etc. Many of these are more flimsy in construction than the sign on the Howe building, a majority of them are much larger and a large percent do not represent companies doing business in this city. He objected to the array of advertisements in street cars, and to the painted signs on the sides of buildings and said he sincerely hoped the time would come when all of them would be legislated away. He said his client would be willing to make all necessary alterations on the sign in question and Commissioner Cummings took the matter under advisement.

TITANIC WIDOWS
UNITE AND HAVE VOWED LIFE-LONG FRIENDSHIP
NEW YORK, June 29.—Three well known women who survived the wreck of the Titanic, while their husbands perished, have just sealed a compact of lifelong love and friendship. They are the widows of John Jacob Astor, George D. Widener and John B. Thayer.

The "news" was revealed a few days ago by Mrs. Astor to several of her friends, after she returned from a visit of a week to her two "sisters-in-law."

The invitation to visit Philadelphia came to Mrs. Astor from Mrs. Thayer about 10 days ago.

As if to disprove the stories that are afloat concerning a break in her health, Mrs. Astor, in an open automobile, drove up and down Fifth avenue yesterday afternoon. Beside her sat her mother, Mrs. William K. Force, wearing her famous string of pearls and petting the toy terrier to which she is devoted.

Mrs. Astor has selected a summer home for her parents at Bernardsville, N. J. It is expected that Mr. and Mrs. Force, with their daughter Catherine, will remove from the town house at East Thirty-seventh street within a few days.

Vincent Astor dropped into the city over Wednesday night, but returned yesterday to his country home at Rhinebeck. He will sail for Europe soon and join his mother.

Special Motor Reticules Fitted With Every Convenience for a Short Trip.

THE moderate prices at which smart motor gear may be picked up now, are really remarkable. In the cold weather a fur motor coat is the only thing that can keep the motorist comfortable, for bleak winter winds search through the heaviest woven fabrics; but in summer there are scores of knowing-looking coats to be had for prices within the reach of everybody—and even if the motor coat is not a necessity for constant wear, but merely a useful possession to have on hand in case of an unexpected invitation to go a-motoring, it pays to invest in one of these models. Motoring invitations are such matter of course affairs, now, when every other person owns a car, that one simply must possess a long coat of some kind, and the best all-around-coat, suitable for steamer and traveling, as well as for automobile wear, is the full length motor coat of tweed or some other mixed material; though the weight may be light as one pleases and the cut and character of the coat will depend upon the price one is willing to pay.

Linen coats are ideal for midsummer motoring for they are both light and cool, and they have a style and smart, fresh look which is very fetching; but a linen coat is an extravagance for the woman who may own but one motor coat a season. It is very rarely, on a trip of longer duration than three or four hours, that chilly enough weather is not encountered to make a warmer coat a very grateful traveling companion. The wind is apt to turn easterly; a fog may come up; coolness may descend with the night-dew; or an accident may delay the car and force its occupants to sit still for a long time, after dark—and only a motorist knows how chilled to the bone one may become on a midsummer night when the thermometer, during the day, has soared among the nineties.

Motor Coats Now Fall to the Knee.

Three-quarter coats are now the faddish thing for motor wear; and when the query comes, "Why three-quarter length?" one is tempted to retort, "Why not?" In a sheltered town, the full length coat is really superfluous. The skirt of the gown is little exposed to dust, especially when there is a light probe in the car; and the very long coat is really only an extra burden to carry on a summer day. So long as a coat is long enough to cover the hips and to stay down when one is seated in the car, no matter how the wind blows, whether it is full-length, three-quarter length or seven-eighth length matters little. At any rate the three-quarter coat is smart—and the fashion—and what more need be said?

One of these three-quarter models, made of white basket weave cloth, was seen the other day in the window of a shop that caters to a fashionable clientele. The coat was lined with white foulard having a low pattern in pale yellow and faint green, and this dainty silk showed on the turned-back collar and turned-back cuffs, though the deep collar was of the white basket weave. The collar could be worn up or down and the coat fastened at the left of the front with big white pearl buttons with green enamel centers. It was very smart, and very youthful. Another three-quarter coat of gray and white boucle in the same window was lined with gay red silk in a lovely flame shade. There was a stitched belt with a red enamel clasp and the buttons were of red enamel with pearl rims. Altogether a cheerful and fetching coat—and in the chic knee-length.

One of these three-quarter coats in a very practical style is illustrated. The material is tan vicuna and the coat is smartly simple and straight in cut, with a wide, buttoned belt at the back and patch pockets fastened down with buttons and buttonholes. This coat is worn with a motor frock of blue whipcord, made in simple, tailored fashion. The bonnet is a decidedly fetching, and very practical affair of blue silk. The long pale tan veil passes under buttoned straps on the pleated crown.

"Shore" Motor Coats With Bright Linings

Stunning full length coats of white basket weave fabric with a reverse of green or tan, are called "shore" coats and are intended for motoring about in a smart summer colony where the roads are not dusty and when one does not expect to ride any farther than to the casino, or country club, or to a friend's home. These coats are particularly smart and dainty, for they are cut on narrow, clinging lines and are faultlessly finished and stitched. The reverse side is in some bright color—usually the ultra fashionable hunting green, or a light golden tan, and large white pearl buttons add an effective contrast. These coats come also in Scotch mixtures with a backing of gray or brown, for more substantial motor use.

English coats are built for storm as well as sunshine, for one never knows what sort of weather is going to be encountered in England and Scotland. A very smart touring coat, recently ordered by a young woman who is to motor through Scotland in August, is of rough striped chevrot with a double breasted front that buttons snugly to the throat, huge patch pockets and wide cuffs that lie flat against the sleeves. There is a detachable leather lining, exquisitely fashioned of soft, fine grained calfskin, which may be slipped under this good-looking chevrot coat on stormy or chilly mornings. A well cut motor coat for wet weather wear is illustrated in the garment of waterproof fabric which has admirable lines and the loose raglan shoulders which are graceful—and comfortable also, when such a wrap is slipped on over another coat. This raincoat is dark gray in color and is accompanied by a practical little motor hat of braid trimmed straw with a waterproof silk crown.

Most attractive is the snow white motor coat, accompanied by a white hat, gloves and footwear. A new white coat, built of vicuna, is pictured and the illustration shows the new shoulder-line and large armhole, with a loose sleeve and a double breasted front, tapering at the foot of the coat in rounded effect.

A French Coat of Especial Distinction.

Distinguished by its graceful lines rather than by any sportiness of character, is the French motor coat, or "race" coat, designed for ever over elaborate lingerie frocks. This coat is built of marine blue cloth with a collar of velvet in the same rich shade; and bluish steel buttons at the ends of the straps on the sleeve add a touch of contrast. The lines are strikingly simple and distinctive, the drapery of the coat crossing from one shoulder to the opposite hip at front and back and the sleeves being voluminous affairs, set in with stitched pleats at the shoulder and hanging bag-fashion on the arm. Only the skill of a French couturier could cut such a coat and achieve anything but a clumsy effect, but the lines of this wrap are narrow and tapering toward the foot, while at the top the shoulders are gracefully full. A scarf of accordion pleated blue chiffon is draped around the top and along the front opening, finishing in a huge choux and ends at the waistline.

The motor bonnet shown with this marine blue wrap is a particularly modish affair made of white felt and marine blue satin. A big white felt crown laps down over the marine blue brim and the bonnet is trimmed with a band and simple Alsatienne bow of white grosgrain ribbon. White silk gloves embroidered with marine blue complete the costume.

Smart Boots Worn With Motor Togs.

No other out of door sport permits the dainty footwear that may be worn with motor gear. Sitting still in a tonneau, one may affect any sort of frivolous boots one pleases, and it is seldom that the fair motorist has to walk farther than from her car into a restaurant, or across a club lawn. Under the heaviest, most practical looking coats of rough chevrot and tweed, accompanied by stormy weather bonnets and all the correct motor paraphernalia for a long and dusty trip, one sees the daintiest little boots or slippers, with dancing soles and Louis heels, and smart, dainty footwear seems to be the rule generally for automobile wear. Usually, the buttoned boot or oxford, or the gay little buckled Colonial pump is selected to match the frock worn beneath the motor coat; though with the white coats white buttoned-boots or oxfords are often worn, regardless of the frock beneath the snowy coat.

Little Luxuries for the Motor-Maid.

Goggles are a real luxury on a long trip, for no veil of chiffon will prevent the eyes from becoming red and strained if they are forced to meet the strong rush of air hour after hour unprotected by goggles. Motor goggles are liked by some women who object to the disfigurement of goggles. The goggles are shaped like the goggles but have a short handle instead of straps to buckle around the head, and they may be raised or dropped in an instant. They are practical for short rides only, as the arm soon becomes tired of holding up the goggles, even when the elbow rests on the cushioned side of the tonneau.

The automobile reticule is a roomy affair that bears little relation to the dainty bag carried with the visiting or promenade costume. It is made of leather, and is leather-lined, and if it be a very luxurious bag, it will have various fittings mounted in gold or silver. These include toilet articles, vanity outfit, and small flasks for toilet waters and the "pick-me-up" which the fair automobilist not seldom has with her. There is often room also for a folded nightdress or negligee of soft material, and a silk blouse with fresh collars. If an overnight stop is contemplated.

The tyre trunk is a compact leather case, enclosed in a waterproof cover, which exactly fits in the round opening within the extra tire always carried on a long trip. It is marvelous how much may be packed into one of these circular "trunks" which are carried so conveniently and unobtrusively along with one. The wicker hushon hamper is another convenience and

HERE is no more graceful adjunct of the summer costume than the scarf—when rightly manipulated. Some women have the inborn knack of handling a scarf and their manipulation of a few yards of soft, airy fabric is a veritable poem in harmony of line and expression of beautiful movement. A scarf, like a parasol, may be made to express any number of things—from languid indifference to righteous indignation—but it is quite a different type of woman from the competitive bearer of a parasol, who puts grace and poetic meaning into the handling of a scarf.

The scarf, as a summer wrap, is as fashionable as ever; for it has been found to be an indispensable item of the wardrobe. It is not used with tailored street costumes of serge, or linen, with tub morning frocks or with short-skirted outing frocks; but much the better. Very pretty bridge scarves for summer piazza wear are made of flowered silk, weighted at the ends with silver tassels. Such a scarf, drawn about the shoulders over a thin lingerie frock will afford just enough protection when sitting still over the bridge table, out of doors, and will also make a very becoming accession of the costume. Embroidered glove silk scarves are also charming for afternoon piazza wear. These scarves are made of very soft, supple silk and have a texture like the long silk gloves worn with summery frocks. The scarves come in lovely, subdued colorings and in white and some of them are embroidered across the end in harmonizing colors. A scarf of this sort is pictured on the standing figure. The frock is of white crepe, worn with white buttoned boots and a broad green leather belt, and the graceful bridge scarf is of white glove silk embroidered on the ends in pale green. The costume is completed by a leghorn hat, faced with black velvet and trimmed with a shaded green and white plume.

Evening scarves of marine, or tulle, are the summer craze in Paris. These scarves are selected to form a harmonizing note with the color scheme of the costume and when a great couturier makes the selection the effect is apt to be exquisitely beautiful and in gray and silver threads at the ends, the embroidered design showing the Empire wreath and a Greek border pattern popular in the days of the first Empire. Long gray silk fringe finishes the ends of this scarf. The second scarf is a shaped model which has the effect of a little "mantle" on the figure, the point hanging almost to the waistline at the back while the fronts are supposed to be crossed, surplice fashion, and pinned against the waist at the front under a cluster of artificial flowers. This scarf is made of embroidered Japanese crepe and is in the lovely Japanese hawthorn blue shade with embroideries in blues and white.

The sequined Oriental scarves are not as fashionable as they were, though women who possess very handsome models are of course wearing them, for anything supremely elegant is its own excuse for being—whether it is modish or not. More fashionable now are the scarves embroidered with tiny metal beads and black chiffon scarves embroidered with steel beads and trimmed with steel head fringes are particularly rich and heavy.

Ostrich and marabout scarves and stoles continue to be modish, and particularly so are the long stoles of shaded ostrich, with tassels swinging at the end. A beautiful stole of this sort, in shaded gray and pink ostrich, was noted the other day with a smoke gray crepe de chine gown, worn at a June wedding. The gray heup hat had shaded gray and pink plumes to match; otherwise the costume was entirely gray, even the buttoned boots being of gray satin.

with trailing evening gowns and the type of afternoon costume that is worn upon semi-formal occasions it is ideal. In itself, the scarf conveys a suggestion of stateliness and dignity and it always makes an out of door costume more formal. It gives its wearer a pleasant feeling of being properly dressed for out of doors without the discomfort of an actual wrap and is in fact a compromise between "going out in one's figure" as they say in the country and an actual coat or wrap worn over the gown. For this reason, the scarf is especially appreciated by wearers of mourning. A mourning gown never seems quite correct, worn uncovered in the street with a veiled mourning hat or bonnet, and the scarf of crepe or of black crepe de chine gives just the touch of formality needed. Mourning scarves of crepe de chine are sometimes gathered at the ends and weighted with black tassels. The crepe scarves are usually hemmed straight across the end with a rather deep hem and are long enough to wrap gracefully around the shoulders and fall to the knee at the front.

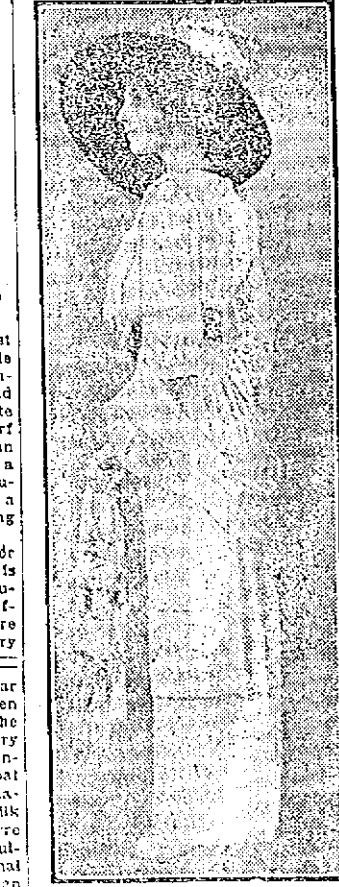

The longer the scarf is, the more easily and gracefully may it be manipulated and if the ends are weighted, so artistic. At a large affair in Paris last month several of these airy tulle scarves were seen. A white one, feathered as a white cloud, was wound around the shoulders above a white and silver gown. A black tulle scarf, studded with silver sequins gave an indescribable touch of grace to a night-black costume and most beautiful was a mauve scarf tossed over a chairback, behind a woman wearing a pale green satin gown.

Two very graceful new scarves for summer wear are illustrated. One is an Empire scarf designed for limousine or carriage wear over dressy afternoon costumes, and is of Empire green crepe de chine with embroidery luxury appreciated by the motorist. These hampers are made of wicker and may be strapped—encased in waterproof canvas—back of the tonneau or above the running board at the side of the car. They come in various sizes and are equipped with plates, cups, forks, knives and spoons, and have covered air-tight receptacles for salad, sandwiches and liquids. In addition, there is a small alcohol stove for making tea.

PALZER KNOCKED OUT THE BRITISH CHAMPION

The Bout Ended in the Third Round—Blow Near Heart Did the Business

NEW YORK, June 29.—Al Palzer, the local heavyweight with white hope aspirations, knocked out Chamberlain Wells, the heavyweight champion of England, in the third round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Madison-square garden last night.

Wells' seconds threw up the sponge as the Britisher dropped from the effect of a deadly right body blow and lay inert in the ring.

Palzer, who had been knocked down by the Britisher in the opening round, sent Wells to the floor toward the end of the second session and knocked him down twice in the third. Wells was no sooner up the second time than Palzer planted a hard right below the heart. Wells sank to the floor, crumpled in a heap and lay there helpless while his seconds threw the sponge in the ring, saving the referee the trouble of counting the man out.

It was a rapid and exciting fight from the start but Palzer's weight began to tell on the Englishman toward the end of the opening round.

Palzer, when he got up, began holding, but Wells shook him off, sending lefts and rights to the face and chest, and under safety from a wild right swing. Then Wells sent two straight lefts to the face, with Palzer playing wildly for the body at the belt. It was Wells' round.

Wells landed lefts and rights to the head and Palzer landed both hooks heavily on the body. Wells sent his right to body and head, but Palzer crossed his right to the head. Wells ducked from a right swing and sent a left to the face and also two right punches on the body. He dashed away from Palzer and reached the head with right and left hooks.

Palzer then stepped in and with a right uppercut under the chin and a left hook to the jaw sent Wells down for a count of seven seconds. Both men were sparring at the bell, which rang several seconds later. This also was Wells' round.

In the third round Palzer led a right left to the face and a right hook to the head. Wells swung right to the face and they exchanged lefts on the head. Palzer planted two right uppercuts on the chest and under the chin and Wells put a straight left to the face. Palzer then, apparently with his right and sent Wells down for the count.

When he got up at the count of nine Wells sent a right uppercut and hooked his left to the face. Palzer, with a right uppercut and a clinch, sent Wells down again for another count of nine.

Wells was very weak when he regained his feet and Palzer rushed him, landing a hard right under the "ear." Wells crumpled up and sank to the floor without another blow and was lying helpless in the middle of the ring when his seconds threw in the sponge and dragged him to his corner.

The time of the third round was 2:44. Palzer weighed at the ringside, turning the scale at 224½ pounds, and Wells weighed 40 pounds less, his weight being given at 184½.

J. Franklin Baker of the Athletics is Most Feared Batter in Country

BAKER PICKING OUT HIS FAVORITE BAT

As a dramatic hitter there are few in baseball to equal J. Franklin Baker, the Philadelphia Athletics' star third baseman. Last fall Mr. Baker broke up the world's series between his club and the Giants by his weakness for knocking out home runs, and recently he busted the Washingtons' long distance record of seventeen consecutive victories and also the senators' wild heating hearts by whipping out a "home" in the first contest and a double in the next. Washington had the first game won in the ninth inning, 1 to 0, and Manager Clark Griffith was congratulating himself when Baker, on his last trip to the bat, swung too hard and too accurately on the leather and raced around the circuit. This stimulated the champions, and they scored again in the extra inning. A little while later, in the second game, Baker got the first hit off Petty and scored again. Then finally in the ninth inning he opened up with a double and scampered across the plate with the winning run on a companion's single. Baker is the Sammy White of professional baseball and the most feared batter in the big leagues.

DIAMOND NOTES
Yesterday's game was a ball one to watch.
Lowell will play a double header at Lynn today.
Gus Damm, the veteran catcher of the Lynn team, is still one of the best in the circuit. That his judgment is considered about right was evident yesterday, when with two on and De Groot at the bat, Gus looked at Manager Terry and the latter said: "Use your own judgment, Gus." Gus did and the comedian fanned the breezes.
Gus also executed a fast double play when he caught Houlihan's foot tip and shot the ball to second in time to get Magee. Added to his fine work behind the bat he was there with the wallop and potted a couple of hits.
Again the fielding of Lonergan at short for Lowell was a feature of the game. He played one of the best games ever seen here and the scouts will certainly be after him if he continues his classy work.
Capt. Jake got a couple of nice fouls near the third base stands that brought forth a big racket.
Halstein made his first appearance in a Lowell game yesterday and covered first base in a very creditable manner. He was rather nervous though and when familiar with the surroundings ought to justify the claims that have been made about his ability.
Giemens continued his great batting, getting four great swats at the pill. He has greatly improved since coming to Lowell and is playing a wonderful game. In the field there isn't anything that gets by him but the wind, while at the bat and on the bases he is the Ty Cobb of the league.
Eddie McGowan, Lowell's star first sacker, was on the coach line yesterday.

The games for next week are: Monday, Lowell at Brockton; Tuesday, Lowell at Brockton; Wednesday, Haverhill at Lowell; Thursday, July 10, A. M., Haverhill at Lowell; P. M., Haverhill at Lowell; Friday, Brockton at Lowell; Saturday, Brockton at Lowell. It will be seen that both games on July 10 will be played in this city. The morning game was scheduled for Haverhill, but has been transferred. The game on the morning of the glorious Fourth will start at 10 o'clock and the afternoon entertainment will commence at the regular time, 3 o'clock.

The Y. M. C. A. team will play the Y. M. C. I. at Washington park this afternoon.

The South Ends will play the Graniteville team at Graniteville this afternoon.

The Bellevues will play the Maples at Lincoln park this afternoon.

The D. E. H. S. will play the Tiger A. C. of North Billerica this afternoon and a good game is expected.

The Groves will play the Buffaloes this afternoon.

The Y. M. C. A. Independents will play the Unions this afternoon at West Chelmsford.

Owing to a misunderstanding, the game between the Y. M. C. A. Indians and the Westford Red Sox has been postponed until a later date.

The Sunday school league games for today are: St. Anne's vs. High Street, at Mountain Rock; North Billerica vs. Pawtucketville, at Pawtucketville.

EDWARD A. BARNES ATTENDS ALL LOWELL GAMES AT HOME

EDWARD A. BARNES, AND HIS PET DOG "PONT."

Goes to Spalding Park in Wheel Chair, Pulled by His Dog "Pont"

The accompanying picture was taken by The Sun photographer at the Lowell-Haverhill ball game at Spalding park yesterday and shows Edward A. Barnes of 173 Andover street, who is one of the greatest "fans" in this city. The picture also shows his pet dog "Pont," who is always with "Ted" as he is known to the sporting fraternity. Mr. Barnes is a veteran of the Spanish-American war where he served his country faithfully. While in the service he contracted malaria which resulted in locomotor ataxia. Upon his return from the Philippines, he was confined to his home some time, but he soon secured the wheel chair in which he may be seen at any of the local games. His dog "Pont" is his partner at all the games and in fact always accompanies him, when he goes out. Mr. Barnes has a chain attached to the dog's collar which is connected with the wheel chair and while he propels the "machine" by arm power the assistance rendered by "Pont" in moving the little carriage greatly helps the wheels "go round."

Many inquiries as to who the great rooster is at all the games is what prompted The Sun photographer to snap his picture.

A. Both Baldwin and Saylor are in grand condition for this encounter and are determined to settle the question of superiority decisively. The reservations already requested for Tuesday night indicate that the members realize that this bout promises to be one of the best and fastest ever decided in this city.

The Ellot Scouts play a double header with Pawtucketville at the Ellot camp.

The Independents of North Billerica will meet the Shedd park team this afternoon at Shedd park. Hitticans and McCarthy will be the battery for the Independents.

The Shamrock A. C. would like to play the Buffaloes, Crystals or any other 15 or 16 years old team. Send answers to E. Bauer, 64 Common street.

CRICKET NEWS

The Zion Cricket club went to North Chelmsford this afternoon to play the cricket team of that burg. The local men met at the post office at 1:30 o'clock and took the 1:35 car for the scene of battle. The Zion team was composed of the following: R. Blawie, capt.; H. Brook, J. Hall, J. Harrison, E. Hayden, R. Atkinson, A. Whitworth, S. Burt, J. Whitworth, A. Fielding, R. Boyd; reserves, A. Rowden, H. Frankila.

BOXING GOSSIP

Two rattling good eight round semi-finals have been arranged to complete the card at the Pilgrim A. A. next Tuesday night, when Matty Baldwin of Charlestown clashes with Kid Saylor of Indianapolis. Jerry Gaines, the market champion, who has always been recognized as the star semi-finalist among the middleweights of New England, has become aware during the past couple of months that Joe Nelson of Lawrence has been taking away some of his glory. This has made Gaines extremely jealous. He went on the trail of Nelson and, lo! Match-maker Johnny Mooney, the only thing in the world that would satisfy him, would be a chance against Nelson. Mooney immediately got in touch with Nelson, and the fair-haired Lawrence boy jumped at the opportunity to clash with the market champion. Nelson has won every contest he has been in at the Pilgrim A. A. and feels confident that he will add the name of Saylor to his list of victims. The marketmen, however, swear by Gaines. They have been longing to see the match and will support Gaines to the limit to win. The other bout will put the popular Frankie Mack of Beachmont up against the stiffest proposition he has ever tackled in the person of Johnny Gallant, the sturdy, hard-hitting Chelsea lightweight. Johnny Gallant is the same type of a boxer as Ad Wolcott. He is rough, ready and aggressive with a wallop in either hand and is a dangerous opponent.

ONE WOMAN KILLED THREE OTHERS INJURED

Collision Between Electric Car and Automobile in Shrewsbury

WORCESTER, June 28.—A woman was killed, two others seriously injured and a man slightly hurt in a collision between an electric car and an automobile in Shrewsbury today.

Four Brockton people motored to Shrewsbury to visit Mrs. Eunice Maynard and took her for an automobile ride. As the automobile was crossing the tracks of the Boston & Worcester street railway, a trolley street car, heavy Boston bound, crashed into the touring car, cutting it in two and throwing the occupants out.

Mrs. Maynard, aged 61, was killed instantly, her chest being crushed in. Passengers on the trolley cared for the injured, who were later sent to a hospital in this city.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

Continued

SAYS HE IS ATTENDING TO HIS OWN BUSINESS

BALTIMORE, June 28.—The uncertain situation over the naming of the presidential ticket has given rise today to much speculation among the leaders as to what movement will be made, if any, by William J. Bryan to break the deadlock, but in an interview just before noon of the Nebraska plan Mr. Bryan disclosed nothing.

"Everybody says that you are going to make a break this morning; if so, will you tell us what it is?" he was asked.

"I have not thought it wise to issue bulletins," replied Mr. Bryan. "I find it better to make announcements."

"Well, can you say that you will make an announcement?"

"Whenever there is anything to be done I will make an announcement at the time when it is to be done," he replied.

"Have you anything to say in regard to Mr. Murphy?"

"Nothing."

"How about the platform? It is reported you said the platform is very satisfactory to you."

"Very satisfactory," replied the Nebraskaan.

"Do you think it will go through without any opposition?"

"There was no objection from any member of the resolutions committee and you would hardly anticipate any on the floor, as every state was represented in the committee."

"You speak of purging the national committee. When would this be done?"

"I am not prepared to make any statement as to the proper time," said Mr. Bryan.

"Do you think nominations will be made today?"

"I will not prophesy. I am a little like Senator Allison was at least. This is the story as I read it. He was speaking in behalf of an appropriation to remove the snow from the streets of Washington. He said: 'You know we recently had a heavy snow. Another senator said: "And we are likely to have another," and he raised his hands above his head and with trembling voice said: "I will not predict." Like Senator Allison, I will not predict.'"

"What is your program for the day? Will you go from here to the convention hall and go on the floor?"

"I will not decide that question immediately," was Mr. Bryan's reply. "I do not expect to be on the floor except when I think it necessary, but I shall be in the resolutions committee room when I am not on the floor. In other words I am attending strictly to business."

"Will you give us your own private views in regard to the third term proposition?"

"I can only say that beginning about 18 years ago when I tried to secure an amendment to the constitution I have been an advocate of a single term and in the three campaigns I announced that I would not, if elected, be a candidate for re-election. I might as well state my position on that because you can never get it on me."

"And you have always been willing to accept one term?"

"I would not want to put it that way. There are times when I would."

"And are you still willing?"

"We have not reached a point where that question is a pertinent one and I have not known a newspaperman who would be presumptuous enough to ask it."

SPEAKER CLARK

SAYS HE OUGHT TO BE NOMINATED BEFORE NIGHT

WASHINGTON, June 28.—"I am going to stay up and read the returns until I hear I'm nominated," was Speaker Clark's characteristic reply today to an inquirer who asked the candidate how he liked the late and early sessions of the Baltimore convention.

The speaker was back at his desk at the capitol before noon today, eagerly reading the reports from Baltimore.

Somebody asked him what he knew about the situation today.

"I know I've had a majority on several ballots and I ought to be nominated before night," was his reply.

When the speaker read the votes of the Underwood delegates would not lead to his nomination he returned with a show of spirit.

"Let those delegates come to me and see if I won't start something. A snowball grows larger as it rolls down hill."

And with that Mr. Clark returned to reading the latest bulletins and receiving visitors who came to predict his success.

THE PLATFORM

WILL TAKE BUT LITTLE OF CONVENTION'S TIME

BALTIMORE, June 28.—Twelve ballots for president had been taken without a choice when the democratic national convention decided to reassemble at one o'clock this afternoon after the early morning adjournment.

The result of the 12th ballot followed: Clark, 549; Wilson, 534; Underwood the tracks of the Boston & Worcester street railway, a trolley street car, heavy Boston bound, crashed into the touring car, cutting it in two and throwing the occupants out.

Mrs. Maynard, aged 61, was killed instantly, her chest being crushed in. Passengers on the trolley cared for the injured, who were later sent to a hospital in this city.

123, Harmon 23, Marshall 30, Kern 1, Bryan 1, not voting 1. Total, 1638.

Unless the conference which preceded the afternoon session should prove to have been more productive of results than those which have gone before it the existing deadlock may be indefinitely prolonged, causing the convention to remain in session over another week. But the delegates are really worn out and anxious to go home. In this fact lays the hope that the predicted break might occur early enough today to permit a nomination for president to be made with sufficient time left to name a vice president and adopt the platform before midnight.

Never in the history of the democratic party has a candidate for president under the two-thirds rule who has received a majority of votes in the convention been denied the nomination.

Clamp Clark received a majority on the 12th ballot last night when New York's split vote was thrown his way. Should he fall now to get the nomination precedent will have been upset.

It was expected before the reconvening of the body that a crisis would be reached on the next two or three ballots. Leaders who profess to know have asserted that the speaker could not hold the New York vote much longer unless he should make substantial gains. Instead of going ahead, Mr. Clark has been slipping back inch by inch since the tenth ballot.

Underwood was the next candidate. It was reported, who would be given a chance at the New York vote once Clark was abandoned. Wilson's friends maintained that eventually the tide of votes would turn in his favor and that the party would rally around the New Jersey governor as its standard bearer.

The Wilson forces have held well during the late balloting. There has been a possibility of a chance that a "dark horse" might break the deadlock. It appeared certain that any agreement between the Clark and Wilson managers was out of the question, but it was doubtful whether these men could hold all their delegates, once a break occurred.

Little thought has been given to the vice presidency and the leaders felt that they could dispose of that question in a very short time.

The platform was expected to consume a very little of the convention's time.

THE LEADERS

WERE LATE IN MAKING THEIR APPEARANCE TODAY

BALTIMORE, June 28.—Wearied by their second struggle lasting practically all night, the leaders and main body of delegates were late in making their reappearance at the main centers of activity this morning and it was well toward noon before the work of consultation, conference and caucus was in full swing. The early birds, which included Chairman Jones, were again vanishing as delegates began to be reached today and that the convention would conclude its factors tonight. Already the exodus from Baltimore had begun and placards at every hand announced special trains carrying away large parties which had come to see a candidate chosen.

It was generally felt that if Clark wins he must win quickly. A continuing deadlock was the one thing which might cut away the commanding lead he had already established. The problem before the Clark forces was twofold, first to hold their present strength intact against defections, and second, to add 176½ votes to his 549.

The first problem was not a menacing one but it had its difficulties.

The 93 New York votes with Clark from the 10th to the 12th ballot were not regarded as a dependent quantity if the struggle was prolonged, as the New Yorkers were still feeling the way, ready to stand by Clark if his forces could show an ability to concentrate the field but not to remain with him indefinitely in a prolonged contest.

Outside the New York acquisition, the main body of Clark men were holding together well, although it was said some of them who have formerly held strong Bryan affiliations might be tempted to try Wilson if the contest was prolonged. These considerations led the Clark men to bend all their energies to finish the convention work.

Underwood Forces Solid

The Underwood forces were standing solidly with no evidence of wavering during the early hours. But their 123 votes on the 12th ballot made them in a sense, the key to the Clark situation, for with them the Clark total would be augmented well along toward the necessary two-thirds.

But at the Underwood headquarters there was not the slightest indication of directing the vote as a balance of power among the other candidates. The sole idea was to keep the Underwood force together in the belief that it would gather strength from all quarters in case a break came from the candidates now in the lead.

Reports were current early today that if Underwood would step aside for Clark the majority leader of the house would be named for the speakership. Clark supporters would not say whether these reports had any basis, but admitted that the Underwood people now hold the key to the situation. Information was forthcoming that

The democratic convention at Baltimore seems to be in a deadlock as the twelve ballots taken last night would indicate. Clark is in the lead, but he still lacks a considerable number of the two-thirds vote necessary for a choice. The leading event of the balloting was the change of the New York delegation to Clark. This caused a wild demonstration for Clark and a counter demonstration for Wilson. Clark and Wilson are the only two men in the contest thus far, although Underwood is holding his 123 votes quite firmly. It is evident that a break must come somewhere, and there is a general sentiment that but for the personal feeling thrown into the convention at the early stage by Mr. Bryan the New York delegation would have swung over to Wilson instead of to Clark. The same was said of the Harmon delegates. As the vote stood last night, if Underwood should turn to Clark the latter would get the nomination, while if he turned to Wilson the added force would fall short of the necessary two-thirds. It is quite probable, however, that should Underwood turn to Wilson there would be enough Clark delegates ready to assist in giving the New Jersey candidate the nomination. The Massachusetts delegation stood firmly by Clark, but as a result of the deadlock it may turn to Governor Fox as a candidate for the presidency. There may be other strong men brought to the front whose names have not yet appeared in the balloting.

THE NEW YORK SUN

The New York Sun is out telling the democrats that only ruin can come to democratic prospects from the nomination of a man so radiant as Wilson on a platform drawn by William Jennings Bryan.

That is an indication that the Sun fears Wilson. It knows that with Taft between the progressive democracy and the bull-moose party of Theodore Roosevelt, he will have slight chance of election.

The New York Sun, like other rank republican sheets, is much disappointed at the steadiness with which the democratic convention proceeded on its way without any conflict or scrap to spread dissension among the delegates. The spirit of harmony shown by the delegates and the willingness to submit to majority rule are so diametrically opposite to the state of affairs that prevailed at Chicago that the standpat republicans are green with envy. It is useless for them to worry because the democratic ticket will sweep the field, and the republican party split in twain will be driven from power while a good progressive democrat will assume control of the government.

THE CALAMITY BROODER

Nobody objects to fair criticism that may lead to improvement of conditions, but every friend of Lowell does or should object to the continued whine of the croaker who sees only the bad and who to gratify his censorious nature makes it much worse. Lowell has suffered in the past from sensationalism, not only from the yellow journals but sensationalism in the pulpit, the place where such an evil might be least expected and where it is calculated to do the greatest harm.

The chronic growler is the pest of any city, whether he sends forth his tirades from the newspaper office, the pulpit or the platform. When the pessimist undertakes the role of reformer he sees everything through smoked glasses and wants to convince everybody that things are going to the dogs. The trouble lies in his imagination if not in his soured nature or his digestive functions. One such public man in a city is like an ominous cloud that shuts out the light of the sun, but Lowell is not going to submit to any such calamity brooder.

MORE SMOOTH PAVING

The owners of automobiles in Lowell, as in other cities, suffer a great deal of discomfort if not injury from riding on rough streets. Of course we cannot as yet afford to have all our streets smooth paved, but on account of the great increase in the number of automobiles it is very desirable that we should increase the number of our smooth paved streets as quickly as possible. The granite block paving is good, being smooth and at the same time durable, but the cobblestone surface, such for example as back Central and Church streets, is the dread of autoists. The elevated crossings with a hollow on either side is also one of the things which jounce the autoists, often wrenching axles so that speedy repairs are necessary. The smooth paving on Pleasant street has worn well and is as good as any outlying street requires.

WORSE THAN CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Capital punishment is not nearly so bad as the sentence meted out to Baron Vincenzo Paterno on the charge of murdering his mistress, Princess Trigona, at Rome in March of 1911. He has been convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for life, the first ten years to be in solitary confinement. The sentence is regarded as of unprecedented severity, as such confinement in an Italian prison means insanity or a lingering death, if not hastened by suicide. Bresci, who killed King Humbert, got the solitary confinement term and went insane in a few years. The Italian prisons on this point are regarded as living tombs.

FOR THE FOURTH

We are getting ready a quiet little celebration of the Fourth on our own account. It will be free from danger and excitement but enjoyable nevertheless. We shall have band concerts and an entertainment for children with the reading of the Declaration of Independence and a short patriotic speech by some orator of ability. That would be getting back to the old-time custom of a real patriotic and sensible celebration.

COST OF LIVING

The republican party has steadily opposed any reduction in the tariff that would reduce the price of food, yet in its platform it promises to take the necessary steps to remove undue or artificial increase in the price of food. It had sixteen years in which to do this but opposed every move in that direction. The democratic party will now attend to that important question.

Some Lowell man should be appointed to the commission to take charge of Salisbury state reservation. Lowell having to pay her share of the deficit in the outlay should be represented on the commission.

The Roosevelt party is fast shrinking into nothingness. In a few weeks there will be nothing left of it but a shouting Colonel who would make a first rate attraction for a wild west show.

SEEN AND HEARD

Patrolman Arthur Drewett, the clever second baseman of the Lowell police team, has decided to retire from baseball until he recovers his beautiful gold ring which he lost recently.

"I was running out a timber tract in the wilds of Maine one day," said a New York surveyor, "and my tramp had taken me into the depth of the wilderness ten miles from camp. The camp was 100 miles from the nearest railroad station. Presently, to my surprise, I heard the sound of an axe, I followed the sound and found a busy woodman at work. He had cleared the timber away for a few rods about, and on that space had put up a snug log cabin. All the rest, on every side, was the profound, almost untrodden wilderness. The man stopped his work and greeted me pleasantly.

"And where did you come from?" he asked.

"I told him I had come from New York."

"Live there?" said he.

"I replied that I lived there. He gazed at me as if amazed, and by and by said: 'Well, well! Gosh! I don't see how you can bear to live so far away.'"

"And as I came away I could almost feel his look of pity for me in my isolated New York domicile."

LOVE AFFAIRS OF AN OFFICE BOY
I'd like to own an island in the sea,
And have a palace there and be the King.

With forty slaves or so to always bring
Me everything I'd want, and her and me.

Would be the only white folks there,
And she would be the Queen and never have a thing.

To do but make me glad, and birds would sing
As sweetly as they could from every tree.

We'd have a hammock fixed up in the shade,
And slaves would fan her when the days were hot.

And we would never have to be afraid
We'd lose our jobs, and never have a thought.

About the trouble other people made
Or have to work when we would rather not.

If I could be the king of such a place
I'd make the slaves hunt pearls along the shore.

'Till she'd have bushels of them—nibbly more—
And I would keep her dressed in silk and lace.

And we'd forget the poor old human race
And all the troubles that we'd had before.

I'd wake her love me so that she'd be sure
Unless my cheek was pressed against her face.

But, gee, there's no use thinkin' things like that!
She thinks I'm nothin' but a kid, I s'pose.

And every time I pass near where she's at
I tremble from my head down to my feet;

I'd like to give her cheek a little pat
And wipe away the streak that's on her nose.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The Rosary." The presentation by The Harvard Stock company at the Merrimack Square Theatre for the first three days of next week, is a play that has proved one of the most popular dramas of years. In it Mr. Grady, Miss Valaire, Mr. Stevens, and the other members of the cast are seen to excellent advantage and should serve to make them more popular than ever before with the patrons. The play tells the story of happenings that are gone over in everyday life of the present. Its characters are as true to life as it's possible to make them and the interesting incidents which develop combine in making it sweet and wholesome entertainment for all. Father Kelly is one of the strongest characters in the play, and it is so drawn that the question of secularism is not in any way involved. The other parts are also capably portrayed. In connection with the presentation will be shown a new and most enjoyable series of photo-plays, including the biggest and best productions by the leading manufacturers of films of this and foreign countries. Illustrated songs by Miss Alice Bagley will also add to the general excellence of the bill.

For the last three days of the week the attraction by The Harvard Stock company will be "St. Elmo," a play

Four Prominent Democrats at National Convention in Baltimore

BALTIMORE, June 29.—Here are snapshots of four prominent democrats at the national convention: 1, Michigan; 2, Roger Sullivan, national committeeman from Illinois; 3, Mark M. Stevens of Ohio; 4, Herman Ridder, editor of the New York Staats-Zeitung; 5, Mark M. Stevens of Michigan; 6, Roger Sullivan, national committeeman from Illinois.

that is well known to a majority of the theatregoers. The play has many interesting scenes and the story which it unfolds is the kind that holds the attention of all from first to last. It should prove one of the most interesting of the series to be given by this popular organization. The photo-plays for the last three days of the week will also be new and the kind that meet the tastes of all. The illustrated songs by Miss Alice Bagley will be the latest and best of their kind.

Remember that this playhouse is the original "cool spot" where patrons will find the temperature normal at all times. If it's warm and disagreeable on the outside visit this theatre and enjoy yourself. Others are doing it.

The sacred concerts Sunday afternoon and evening will include the best of vaudeville and photo-plays.

THE KASINO

Have you made your plans for today? Up on Thordike street bill, bracing breezes blow through the spacious Kasino almost continuously and as the miniature gal-warts comfort, or you may enjoy an orchestral concert, or you may glide gracefully along the smoothest floor in New England. The conductor will let you off almost at The Kasino door. Dancing sessions are held afternoon and evening.

THEATRE VOYONS

Tonight affords the last chance to see the excellent program at the Theatre Voyons that has been making such an impression during the past few days. "The Runaways," a Lubin comedy is a clever, well acted force of the adventures of a couple of young folks who are having their first spat after marriage. "The Passerby," an Edison dramatic subject, has a novel story and is finely acted. Tomorrow the usual excellent Sunday concent will be given and all feature pictures and musical numbers will be presented.

CONCERTS AT LAKEVIEW

Two concerts will be given at Lakeview park Sunday afternoon and evening by the City band of this city, B. E. Tabor, director. The following are the programs:

AFTERNOON
March, Brooks Triumphat..... Selty
Overture, Raymond..... Thomas
Xylophone solo, Sargin Loss Polka,

ANOTHER LOT OF

Boy Scout Shoes

A Big Bargain $1.88

We had a chance to get another lot of Genuine Boy Scout Shoes and took the lot—350 pairs of Boy Scout Shoes—all sizes from 10 to 13 1-2 and 1 to 8, are put on sale today for $1.88.

Each pair bears the Official Seal of the Boy Scouts of America. Made from brown calf skin—elk hide soles—easy, comfortable, durable, perfect athletic shoes. These are just the shoes for camp, seashore or country wear—or in fact for wear anywhere. Instead of the regular price, $2.50, we offer these

The large crowds of pleasure seekers who have been going to Lakeview Park this season in increasing numbers will find plenty to interest them next week. Commencing Sunday there will be band concerts afternoon and evening. Starting Sunday evening, July 7th, there will be sacred concerts at the theatre. Every afternoon and evening during the week J. W. Gorman's players will present a snappy musical show entitled "A Bunch of Keys."

On Tuesday evening there will be another free pyrotechnical exhibition when "The Spouting Geysers of the Yellowstone" and other spectacular Italian fireworks features will be given. The program will be completely changed and some very beautiful and surprising effects are promised.

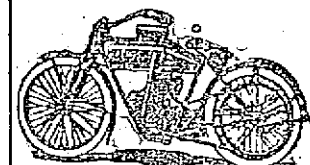

ST. ANTHONY'S CHURCH

At St. Anthony's church, Central street, tomorrow, the feast of St. Peter and St. Paul, masses will be celebrated at 8, 9 and 10.30 o'clock, the latter a high mass, and a sermon will be preached. In the evening at 7 o'clock there will be vespers, conclusion of devotions to the Sacred Heart and benediction. A plenary indulgence will be granted those who go to confession and receive communion.

Drives Off a Terror

The chief executioner of death in the winter and spring months is pneumonia. Its advance agents are colds and grip. In any attack by one of these maladies no time should be lost in taking the best medicine obtainable to drive it off. Countless thousands have found this to be Dr. King's New Discovery. My husband believes it has kept him from having pneumonia three or four times," writes Mrs. George W. Place, Rawsonville, Vt., "and never found its equal." Guaranteed for all bronchial affections. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free at A. W. Dows & Co.

4.00 A WEEK 4.00

Buy This Motor Cycle

A limited number of 1912 model motorcycles, $40.00 down and $4.00 a week until paid for. This special offer is to quickly place high-grade motorcycles in every locality. We give the same liberal terms we allow to agents, with plenty of time to pay balance. We want good riders everywhere, and for a limited time we allow the dealer's credit and easy terms to all buyers. Remember, we are Eastern Distributors. Three floors devoted to the motorcycle business. See the 4 cylinder PIERCE-ARROW.
